PLOT TO KIDNAP OLGA EILLS IN JAPAN FOILED

Dispatches to Boston today from Tokio told of an attempt there to kidnap little Olga Eills, eight-year-old girl, who figured in the most amazing story of mother love Boston ever knew.

The girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Eills, Mr. Eills being at various times a telegraph operator, broker, dramatist and clergyman. When the couple separated, Mrs. Eills was given custody of the child by the court, but Mr. Eills seized the girl and fled to Japan.

Since then Mrs. Eills has desperately fought, first to find her daughter, and then to recover her. Her fight has been unsuccessful.

The dispatches from Tokio today were not explicit. One read only:

"An unsuccessful attempt to kidnap Olga Eills, eight-year-old daughter of John Eills, former clergyman of Boston and business manager of the Japan Advertiser, was made here today."

MOTHER IS IN REVERE.

Mrs. Eills, according to Roger Sherman Hoar, who represented her in the legal proceedings looking to the recovery of her daughter, is living at No. 100 Revere street, Revere, and her friends today declared that she would know nothing of the attempted kidnaping. Mr. Hoar has not been active in the case recently, and Mrs. Eills' affairs are now in the hands of Attorney Judd Dewey.

The story of Mrs. Eills' search and fight for her child rivals fiction. Under the court decree, Mr. Eills was allowed to take the child out on certain days. On one of these days, he and Olga left Mrs. Eills at her home, and never returned.

After waiting two days, Mrs. Eills secured a warrant for his arrest as a kidnaper and the search began.

The police failed in the search, and Mrs. Eills appealed to the newspapers. The first stories published brought results, for photographs of the child and Mr. Eills, which appeared in the papers, were recognized.

Eills and the child were traced across the country. They went by way of Canada. Telegraphers, magazines, moving picture theatres, were enlisted in the search. The trail led at last to Yokohama, and there was lost for a time.

MOTHER LOSES LONG FIGHT.

Through the aid of missionaries, travellers and the like, the search was kept up, and after two months Eills was located in Tokio.

It was then learned that Eills could not be extradited from Japan for kidnaping, so a warrant charging perjury was sworn out. Eills was arrested, and two officers from Boston went to get him.

And then Japan refused extradition. Mrs. Eills still clung to a hope of help through the Japanese courts, and kept up the fight.

10,000 Troops Guard Italian War Meeting

ROME, Feb. 18.—Ten thousand Italian troops marched into Rome at dawn today and took up positions where they would be at an advantage if any outbreak occurred at the demonstration in favor of France and her allies arranged for this afternoon.

The demonstration was arranged by leaders of the Democrats, Republicans and Nationalists as a patriotic movement to force action for intervention in the war by Parliament, which reconvened today. Heavy guards of soldiers were thrown about the Parliament building, and about that occupied by the War Ministry. Soldiers were also placed about the Austrian and German Emassies. No one was allowed to approach either of the embassies without stating his business.

Great crowds surged through the streets early in the day, gathering at the meeting place, but no attempts to arouse an attack upon the embassies had been made up to noon. The government had granted permission for the meeting, but at the same time had given notice that no violence would be tolerated. The rifles of the infantry forces were filled with ball cartridges, while a heavy force of cavalry occupied strategic positions from which they chould charge down the streets.

During the forenoon no German or Austrian residents were seen on the streets. The feling against the subjects of these countries has been increased during the last few days by dispatches telling of Austria's military preparations on the Italian frontier.

A message that came from Brescia today declared that bridges in the Chiose and Amegola valleys had been mined by the Austrians, extensive earthworks erected on the frontier, and large stores of war material collected in the Trentino.

Corsican Safety Reaches Liverpool

Cable advices received by the Allan Line report the safe arrival at Liverpool at 7 a. m. today of the steamship Corsican, which carried a number of New England passengers, many of them residents of Portland, Me. The Corsican sailed from St. John, N. B., with mixed freight.

Fear 2 Steamships Have Been Sunk

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 18.—Shipping circles are anxious over the British steamship Brika and Norwegian steamship Belvernon, which sailed from here more than two weeks ago for Europe. Neither has reached her destination and it is feared both have been sunk.

Carranza Evacuates Capital to Zapata

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—The State Department was notified in official dispatches today that the Carranza forces under General Obregon have again evacuated Mexico City, and that the forces of General Zapata now occupy the Mexican capital.

AWAIT VERDICT IN LOVE CASE OF MISS RYAN

The "Toodles" case was given to the jury shortly before noon today. The twelve jurors, led by Foreman Everett Morss, at once retired for their deliberations.

Judge Fessenden took up almost exactly two hours in delivering his charge. Both Miss Elizabeth M. Ryan and Harry K. Mansfield, of the Ferncroft inn, defendant in her $50,000 breach of promise suit, were present, seated at the ends of the same settee. It was the first time both have sat on the same bench since the trial started seven weeks ago.

The judge's charge was a plain statement explaining the law, forms of verdicts, contracts, and dwelling in detail on promises of marriage.

At one point Judge Fessenden mentioned "painful or disgraceful details" in the case and later said:

"You have heard a lot of testimony about the unlawful and criminal acts of the plaintiff and defendant.

"It's pretty hard for you and me to find words that will characterize their relations."

ONE PROMISE ENOUGH.

The judge told the jury that it must find in its examination of the evidence whether there was a promise of marriage—expressed or implied—between January 24, 1908, and January 24, 1914; that the plaintiff claimed more than one promise to wed, but that one promise was sufficient.

Then the judge said:

"Those of us who are fortunate to be married; those of us who have a home and those of us who take up the daily paper and see the cartoons of how the wife hits her husband with a rolling pin and throws a saucepan at his head—we know what married life is.

"We get an idea of it, if we are not married, from looking at these cartoons.

"A promise to marry—a promise to take that person as long as we live and agree to live together as husband and wife, in sickness and health, whether we be rich or young, for better or worse."

Later he said:

"Now, if she promised to marry him (Mansfield), and he promised to marry her, each agreeing to stay together, gentlemen, the poison is there.

"Gentlemen, you can draw your own inference as to what I mean."

Toward the close of his charge he said:

"Don't measure marriage by money. It is for you to say if the girl expected to marry into a comfortable situation. If she did then she should be helped."

DISCUSSES DAMAGE.

The Judge then discussed damages, telling the jury they were to consider the "injury to her feelings" if there was a promise, and what she had lost in money damage "by his refusal to marry."

There were vacant seats in the courtroom when the judge began his charge, but the corridors were filled with people trying to gain admittance, which was refused by court officers, so that the judge might not be interrupted.

When court convened at 9:30 Judge Fessenden conferred for about eight

Germany Begins Her Submarine War on British Shipping

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Germany's starvation war against England is under way. The war zone decree went into effect at midnight.

American officials hid their real apprheension today over the situation under a spirit of confidence that no disaster possibly could befall American mrechantmen in British waters. It is confidently predicted that neutral ships will be taken care of by the German submarine captains.

This confidence is not based on any interchanges between the American and German governments, but only upon the belief that Germany does not desire wilfully to antagonize this nation. It is expected that the test of the German submarine campaign will come within a week. Should Germany not wreak substantial damage to British shipping within this time, the American authorities will breathe easier.

Grand Admiral von Tirpitz's midnight order to the German submarines is said to have read:

"Sink all ships with crews!"

Reports from Berlin declare the submarines will lay mines at the entrances to all the principal English ports.

Official announcement was made today at Berlin that Emperor William had returned from the eastern front for a short stay in Berlin. This news was received with enthusiasm by the public, coming as it did in the same day that Germany opens her submarine campaign against England.

It is believed in Berlin that the Emperor will visit Cuxhaven, Wilhelmshaven and Helgoland, the German naval bases, and then proceed to the western battle front.

The White Star liner Adriatic, for which fears were expressed, arrived at Liverpool today. She made the voyage across the Atlantic without encountering any hostile warships.

Germany's reply to the note of the United States protesting against the submarine blockade of the British coast sets forth firmly the position of Germany, but at the same time the document is couched in cordial terms and shows a spirit of friendliness toward America.

The German reply, which has been transmitted to Washington by American Ambassador Gerard, explains that Germany's drastic naval policy toward Great Britain was made necessary by the attempts of England to cut off the food supply of Germany's civil population

One of the proposals contained in the German reply is the suggestion that the Declaration of London be ratified, in accordance with a suggestion made by the United States at the outbreak of the war, thus enabling Germany to import food and raw materials. With this ratification, it is pointed out, Germany would be in a position to modify her maritime policy.

London dispatches say that Great Britain is "sitting tight," awaiting developments, and that regular ship traffic is being maintained.

Submarines will not figure alone in the blockade, if dispatches from Copenhagen, which report great activity among the Zeppelin-Parseval fleet, are credited.

An airship fleet has been sighted from northern Jutland; a Zeppelin has been sighted passing low over the North Sea, while the searchlights of others have been seen flashing their messages to warships.

A dispatch from Amsterdam says the Dutch steamer Helena, just arrived at Rotterdam, reports a Zeppelin flew over her decks, forty miles out of Haak's lightship, but observed her nationality and let her alone.

According to a Copenhagen dispatch today, it is reported

Enormous Booty Taken By Germans

BERLIN, Feb. 18.—Today's official war report, describing the enormous booty taken by the Germans in driving the Russians from East Prussia, says:

"The results near the East Prussian frontier have increased until now we have taken 64,000 prisoners, seventy-one guns, more than 100 machine guns, three hospital trains, some aircraft, 150 cars filled with ammunition, searchlights and countless cars with loads of war munitions and horses. A further increase of this booty can be expected."

Rejects Protest on Gambling in Grain

LONDON, Feb. 18.—The British government today rejected a proposition to protest to President Wilson against "gambling" in wheat and other grain futures in New York and other cities having grain exchanges. It had been suggested that speculation in "futures" was partly responsible for the increase in prices, but Chancellor David Lloyd-George of the Exchequer announced in Parliament that the government would not make any complaint to the United States.

Russians Beaten, Kaiser Declares

BERLIN, Feb. 18.—The president of the province of East Prussia at Koenigsberg has received the following telegram from Emperor William, who has been on the Eastern battle front:

"Russians are completely beaten. Our beloved East Prussia is safe from the enemy."

Emperor William held a long conference with his ministers today.

Dutch Silent on German War Zone

THE HAGUE, Feb. 18.—It is learned from a semi-official source that the Dutch government, after conferring with the shipping companies, decided not to issue any instructions to maritime interests relative to the German war zone proclamation.

CRUISER KRON PRINZ WILHELM SENDS 4 LINERS AND SCHOONER TO BOTTOM OFF SOUTH AMERICA

BUENOS AYRES, Feb. 18.—Four British steamers and a British schooner, of a total tonnage of 11,874 tons, have been sunk off the east coast of South America by the German converted cruiser Kron Prinz Wilhelm, which before the war was a North German Lloyd liner. This was learned today from Captain Dreyer of the German steamer Holger, which arrived last night bringing 314 persons comprising the crews of the destroyed English ships.

The steamers sunk by the Kron Prinz Wilhelm were the Highland Brae, 4,824 tons; the Potarc, 2,810 tons; the Hemisphere, 2,230 tons, and the Semantha, 1,811 tons. The three-masted schooner Wilfred M., 199 tons, was also sent to the bottom by the cruiser.

After the vessels had been sunk by the Kron Prinz Wilhelm, the Holger was summoned from Pernambuco by the captain of the cruiser to take aboard the passengers and crews of the British vessels.

After leaving the Kron Prinz Wilhelm the Holger was pursued near Montevideo by two British cruisers, but succeeded in escaping owing to a heavy fog.

The Highland Brae, which was the most important victim of the Kron Prinz Wilhelm, was sunk two weeks after leaving London for Buenos Ayres. She was sent to the bottom near the Brazilian port of Pernambuco after her cargo, coal, crew and passengers had been removed to the Kron Prinz Wilhelm.

The passengers stated today that they had received good treatment from the Germans, both on the cruiser and on the Holger, to which they were transferred near the Brazilian coast a few days after the Highland Brae was sunk.

They complained, however, of a lack of comfort on board the Holger, which is a coal-carrying tramp.

Captain Dreyer of the Holger stated that after he left Parnambuco in response to an aerogram from the cruiser, he had considerable trouble in locating the Kron Prinz Wilhelm. She was on the high seas for several days before she came up to the cruiser. The Holger, which is bringing a cargo from Bremen, had a crew of forty men, who will be compelled to remain here because they have no health certificates.

The Highland Brae was built in 1910, the Hemisphere in 1897, the Semantha in 1899 and the Wilfred M. in 1909.

Greece Accepts Turkish Apology

ATHENS, Feb. 18.—Official announcement was made today that Greece had accepted the Turkish apology for the arrest of the Greek naval attache at Constantinople, and that the incident might be regarded as closed.

Cow, Donkey and Dog Beaten as Allies

LONDON, Feb. 18.—A Cable dispatch to the Star says:

"The captain of the U. S. cruiser Tennessee, engaged in carrying refugees, reports that when he was at Haifa recently the authorities would not let him land, as a great popular festival was in progress to celebrate the crossing of the Suez canal by Turkish troops. The principal event of the festival was the beating through the streets of a cow, representing Russia, a donkey, representing France, and a dog, representing England."

KAISER SURE TO WIN, SAYS MOLTKE

BERLIN, Feb. 17.—While he admits much remains to be done before the Kaiser can dictate the terms of peace to the nations involved in the war, General Von Moltke, late chief of staff, declared in an interview with the Vossische Zeitung that Germany will ultimately win.

In answer to the question: "What do you think is the outlook?"

Von Moltke said slowly and concisely:

"We are sure to win. Out at the front and here at home I have had opportunities to observe our nation, both in army and in civilian clothes during the war.

"Such a nation cannot perish.

"The issue of the war does not depend on the army alone. The people themselves determine the issue. Our attitude at home reacts through millions of links on our soldiers. We shall attain a peace which is not only honorable, but which will greatly help our ascendancy."

"Does your excellency believe that this peace will come about soon?"

"We must persevere and hold out. Much is to be done until we can dictate that peace, and we need all our strength, military as well as civilian. It may be a long time until the war is at an end."

Chairman Hoover's Appeal

In thanking the New England Belgian Relief Committee for the first Relief Ship from New England for Belgium, Chairman Herbert Clark Hoover of the Belgian Commission for Relief cables the New England Committee from Rotterdam as follows:

"True to all traditions New England has given the world a magnificent example of her generosity to the starving people of Belgium. I am asked to express for the Belgian people profound gratitude to all those who contributed to the Relief Ship 'Harpalyce' and thus staved off the anguish of hunger.

"At the risk of being considered importunate, I cannot refrain from telling you that more, MUCH MORE, is needed, and if New England's hand of mercy is stayed we are faced with the calamity of a famine under conditions entailing misery such as the world has never known."

THE NEW ENGLAND BELGIAN RELIEF COMMITTEE

will send another ship about Mar. 1.

Send supplies and small money contributions to the New England Belgian Relief Headquarters, 126 Boylston Street, Boston. Checks to Joseph H. O'Neil, Treasurer, Federal Trust Company, Boston.

KAISER IN PERSONA L CHARGE; ORDERS 'SINK CREWS WITH SHIPS'

from Hamburg that, beginning at midnight, German submarines were instructed:

1—To treat all ships conveying anything to England as enemy ships without any rights in international law.

2—To torpedo all ships, and without warning, examination or regard for nationality.

3—To let all crews of torpedoed ships perish for the terrorizing effect.

The opening of the starvation war has so far been marked by the sinking of two vessels and the attacking of a third. The British 2,500-ton collier Dulwich, at first reported simply as "blown up off the coast of France," was the first victim of the German submarines.

Later the French steamer Ville de Lille was sunk by the German submarine U-16 by means of explosives placed in her interior. The official French report of the sinking reads:

"The French steamer Ville de Lille, belonging to the Compagnie Navigation des Bateaux a Vapeur du Nord, sailing from Cherbourg to Dunkirk, sighted the U-16 near the lighthouse at Barfleur at 1:30 o'clock.

"The Ville de Lille endeavored to escape, but was outspeeded by the submarine, men from which boarded her and gave the crew ten minutes to leave in the ship's boats. They then sank the Ville de Lille by bombs placed in her interior.

"The U-16 headed for a Norwegian steamer, but sank out of sight when a division of French torpedo boats from Cherbourg appeared on the horizon.

"The Ville de Lille was a small steamship of 991 tons."

The Norwegian steamer referred to was the first neutral attacked.

GERMAN EDITOR READS U. S. OUT OF THE NEUTRALS

BERLIN (via Amsterdam), Feb. 18.—Criticism of the attitude of the United States by the German press reached a climax today when the Koelnische Zeitung editorially warned that country that if it misinterpreted Germany's conduct after receiving the reply sent from Berlin to Washington it would no longer be regarded as neutral.

The newspaper printed the following comment on the German reply to the note from the American government:

"The German point of view cannot be explained in a more serious or conciliatory way. The note meets the American view to the utmost by advising a convoy for mercantile vessels of warships.

"On the other hand, the note leaves no doubt that Germany is determined to defend herself against England's barbarism, since the neutral countries are impotent or unwilling to bring pressure upon England to respect the dictates of international law.

"Whoever after this note still misinterprets the sense and nature of Germany's conduct will, as far as we are concerned, be out of the ranks of the neutrals."

ENGLAND CALMLY SENDS SHIPS FORTH ON REGULAR SERVICE

LONDON, Feb. 18.—England is "sitting tight" today, awaiting the first blow of the German submarine fleet. Though the German proclamation making English and French waters a war zone went into effect at midnight, it was officially announced here this forenoon that regular steamer traffic between Folkstone, Calais, Boulogne, Dieppe, Southampton and Havre was being maintained, despite the German threat to mine all harbors.

A meeting of the cabinet was held at the home of Premier Asquith early in the day, but up to noon no formal proclamation in answer to that of Germany had been issued.

This led to reports that no such a proclamation would be issued, but that the British government, classifying the German menace as piracy, would not recognize Germany's attack as conducted under the rules of civilized warfare.

By adopting this attitude and holding the crews of German submarines to be pirates, it would be possible to hang them for murder if any were captured. An influential part of the public, led by Lord Charles Beresford, is in favor of this method of procedure.

The rules of international law provide that the penalty for piracy upon conviction may be death.

MAY CALL IT PIRACY.

The first requirement to constitute an act of piracy jure gentium is that it must be an act of adequate violence. It need not necessarily be an act of depredation.

The second requirement is that the practical act must be committed outside the territorial jurisdiction of any civilized state, but a third holds that the perpetrators of the practical act must be without the authority of any recognized political community.

The third requirement might be overcome by England's refusal to recognize Germany further as entitled to consideration as a civilized nation.

The Westminster Gazette, which speaks for the government, today predicts a period of great naval activity in the "bread war," as the new conflict between England and Germany is now termed.

"For the next few weeks," it says, "we must expect a period of exceptional violence by land and sea. We shall sit through this without allowing ourselves to be scared or flustered.

AIMED AT NEUTRALS.

"What is new in the Berlin decree is aimed at neutrals rather more than belligerents. We are familiar with German mines and submarines; we are not inexperienced or unprepared to do our best.

"Both the allied governments will take a new offensive on land with equal firmness and equanimity. The Russians will be helped by the vigorous movements now reported from the West."

AUSTRIANS DEFEAT RUSSIANS IN GALICIA; CAPTURE 6,00

LONDON, Feb. 18.—The capture by Austrian troops of the important Galician railway centre of Kolomea on the Pruth River is announced in an official statement issued by the Vienna War Office today. The statement also tells of the capture of more than 6,000 Russians, 2,000 having been taken at Kolomea and 4,000 in the Carpathians. Kolomea is ninety-six miles southeast of Lemburg and forty-five miles northwest of Czernowitz, the capital of Bukowina. It controls the railroad line between Stanislau and Czernowitz, and its capture splits the Russian forces that have been driven back to these two cities, according to the Austrian statement.

RUSSIANS HOLD ENEMY.

At bay in their positions in northern Poland on the right bank of the Vistula River, the Russians are withstanding terrific attacks by the German forces advancing from Thorn and Soldau. Report received today from Petrograd stated that the German drive was being checked on the Plock-Racione front, where the battle is raging with great intensity.

Further Russian successes in the Carpathians were announced by the Russian staff, these including the capture of more than 1,400 prisoners at one point and the complete annihilation of a German battalion at another. Most of the men in this battalion were killed by Russian bayonets. The survivors were captured.

The official report of the Russian general staff says:

"On the right bank of the Vistula the fighting is proceeding in almost the same regions as yesterday, with extreme desperation in certain sections, particularly about Plock.

TAKE 1,400 PRISONERS.

"In the Niemen region (east of the German frontier) only patrols of the enemy have been encountered by our troops.

"There is no change on the left bank of the Vistula or on the Bzura-Rawka front west of Warsaw.

"In Galicia we repulsed an attack yesterday in front of Khava-Vykorotch with heavy loss to the enemy. Further east the enemy sought to attack us, but was unsuccessful in the Lubne-Studenne regions. In repulsing this attack we captured ten officers, more than 1,400 men and three machine guns.

"On the front from Koziowa to Wyszkow pass the Germans delivered a series of sustained impetuous attacks, pushing forward vigorously in the direction of Wyszkow.

"All were repulsed with heavy loss to the enemy. Almost a whole battalion was bayoneted. The survivors were captured.

"The situation in Bukowina is unchanged."

The new offensive movement by the allies in the west now extends over the greater part of the battle line and hard attacks have been delivered at half a dozen different points.

The gains made by the French in the Champagne district are considered unusually important, because of the nearness of the French to the German lines of communication in that region now. German prisoners taken in that part of the field were in bad condition from exposure and lack of food. They declared that many men in the trenches, both officers and privates, had gone violently insane from the exposure, the strain of constant fighting and the horrible sights which continually greeted their eyes.

Sniping operations on a big scale as well as fierce cannonades are reported from West Flanders. In Alsace the French are strengthening their positions.

This gigantic conflict has now been in progress for more than twenty-two weeks, with only one important and decisive development. This was the breakdown of the German forces defending Alsace and the invasion of Alsace-Lorraine by the French.

It is believed that Emperor William will shortly pay another visit to the western front and that his appearance will be the signal for another series of German assaults such as those recently made along the Aisne northeast of Soissons.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Common garden Sage and Sulphur makes streaked, faded or gray hair dark and glossy at once

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.—Advertisement.

ARREST HERRICK ON TAILOR BILL

Ralph M. Herrick, who sued Albert H. Waitt, a young millionaire, for $75,000 for alleged aleination of Mrs. Herrick's affections, was arrested today on a mesne process warrant as he was leaving the East Cambridge court with his counsel, Attorney John F. Ryan.

The warrant was served by Constable Stephen C. Bresnahan of Cambridge and sworn out by a tailor who claims Herrick has owed him $41 sine Janpary 24, 1913. Herrick expressed amusement over the arrest.

He was taken before Judge Almy in the Third District Court, a block away, and after a conference, it was agreed to give Herrick a hearing at 2 p. m.

The jury is out in the alienation suit. A verdict is expected before night. Judge White charged the jury this morning, following an announcement by Attorney Chester W. Ford, counsel for Waitt, that a stranger approached him and tried to make overtures as "a friend of a juror." Attorney Ford said he rebuffed the man.

Sound in Girl's Head Resembles Ticking of Watch

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18.—What physicians described as a rare case of tinnitus was exhibited here at the College of Physicians. The case was that of a girl, five, in whose head a sound resembling the ticking of a watch can be distinctly heard.

The ticking sound has been going on in the child's head for two months, according to the physicians who brought her to the meeting. By placing their ears close to the side of her head those present could plainly hear the sound, but none of the specialists were able to determine the cause of the trouble.

Jewish Charities Open Jobless Fund

Over $5,000 was raised in less than ten minutes as a beginning of the "necessity fund" to meet the increased demands upon the Jewish charities because of unemployment and business depression at a meeting of the Federated Jewish Charities directors held at the Elysium Club.

A committee of ten has been named to raise $25,000 within sixty days. This money will be used to assist the unemployed who have been flocking to the doors of the various constituent societies of the Federated Jewish Charities.

The following donations were made to the fund:

A. C. Ratschesky $1,000, Louis Baer $500, David Stern $400, Ferdinand Strauss $250, Leon Strauss $250, Louis Leviseur $250, Joseph Herman $200, A. A. Says No One Need Remain Thin Now

Physician's Advice For Thin, Undeveloped Men and Women

Thousands of people suffer from excessive thinness, weak nerves and feeble stomachs who, having tried advertised flesh-makers, food-fads, physical culture stunts and rub-on creams, resign themselves to life-long skinniness and think nothing will make them fat. Yet their case is not hopeless. A recently discovered regenerative force makes fat grow after years of thinness, and is also unequalled for repairing the waste of sickness or faulty digestion and for strengthening the nerves. This remarkable discovery is called Sargol. Six strength-giving, fat-producing elements of acknowledged merit have been combined in this peerless preparation, which is endorsed by eminent physicians and used by prominent people everywhere. It is absolutely harmless, inexpensive and efficient.

A month's systematic use of Sargol should produce flesh and strength by correcting faults of digestion and by supplying highly concentrated fats to the blood. Increased nourishment is obtained from the food eaten, and the additional fats that thin people need are provided. All leading druggists supply Sargol and say there is a large demand for it.

While this new preparation has given splendid results as a nerve-tonic and vitalizer, it should not be used by nervous people unless they wish to gain at least ten pounds of flesh.

NEVADA DIVORCE BILL ADVANCED

RENO, Nev., Feb. 18.—The divorce bill has finally passed the Senate by a vote of 12 to 10. The divorce faction succeeded in switching one vote to their side, thereby giving them the constitutional majority necessary to adoption of the bill.

The question is still divided as to the Governor's action. He was unquestionably elected on this one issue and the belief is strong that he will either sign it or let it become a law by default.

Harvard Leaders End Course Early

Harvard has lost several undergraduates of prominence, who have finished the four-year course in three years and a half. Harry McLure, captain of the cross-country team; Coleman Jennings, leader of the soccer eleven; Mal Logan, the quarterback; Bunny Carter, who married Miss Louise Thacher, and Vernon B. Chittenden are among them.

NORTH END SHOP ROBBED OF $1,700

Burglars [illegible] upon the door of the safe of the sausage shop of Frederick W. [illegible], No. 5 Fulton place, North End, last night and stole $1,700 in cash and checks, a number of notes and other business papers and a bank book representing $1,[illegible] deposits at the Merchants Co-operative Bank.

They gained entrance to the store by false keys. [illegible] was astonished when he opened up for business this morning to find his safe rifled. Near it he found a steel bar and an implement which is known to yeggmen as a "can-opener." No explosive was used. Everything about the job showed it to be the work of experts.

The police of the North End station are on the trail. They are watching for the cashing of checks.

GERMANY'S STARVATION WAR AGAINST BRITISH ISLES IS NOW UNDER WAY

Cow, Donkey and Dog Beaten as Allies

LONDON, Feb. 18.—A [illegible] dispatch to the Star says:

"The captain of the U. S. warship Tennessee, engaged in carrying refugees, reports that when he was at Haifa recently the authorities would not let him land as a great popular festival was in progress to celebrate the crossing of the Suez Canal by Turkish troops. The principal event of the festival was the beating through the streets of a cow representing Russia, a donkey representing France, and a dog representing England."

KAISER SURE TO WIN, SAYS MOLTKE

BERLIN, Feb. 17.—While he admits much remains to be done before the Kaiser can dictate the terms of peace to the nations involved in the war, General Von Moltke, late chief of staff, declared in an interview with the Vossische Zeitung that Germany will ultimately win.

In answer to the question: "What do you think is the outlook?" Von Moltke said slowly and [illegible]:

"We are sure to win. Both at the front and here at home I have had opportunities to observe our nation, both in army and in civilian clothes, during the war.

"Such a nation cannot be beaten.

"The issue of the war does not depend on the army alone. The people themselves determine the result. Our attitude at home reacts through millions of links on our soldiers. We shall attain a peace which is not only honorable, but which will greatly help our ascendancy."

"Does your excellency believe that this peace will come about soon?"

"We must persevere and need not [illegible]. Much is to be done until we can dictate that peace and we need all our strength, military as well as civilian. It may be a long time until the war is at an end."

Chairman Hoover's Appeal

In thanking the New England Belgian Relief Committee for the first Relief ship from New England for Belgium, Chairman Herbert Clark Hoover of the Belgian Commission for Relief cables the New England Committee from Rotterdam as follows:

"True to all traditions New England has given the world a magnificent example of her generosity to the starving people of Belgium. I am asked to express for the Belgian people profound gratitude to all those who contributed to the Relief Ship 'Harpalyce' and thus staved off the anguish of hunger.

"At the risk of being considered importunate, I cannot refrain from telling you that more, MUCH MORE, is needed, and if New England's hand of mercy is stayed we are faced with the calamity of a famine under conditions entailing misery such as the world has never known."

KAISER IN PERSONAL CHARGE; ORDERS 'SINK CREWS WITH SHIPS'

from Hamburg that, beginning at midnight, German submarines were instructed:

1—To treat all ships conveying anything to England as enemy ships without any rights in international law.

2—To torpedo all ships, and without warning, examination or regard for nationality.

3—To let all crews of torpedoed ships perish for the terrorizing effect.

The opening of the [illegible] war has so far been marked by the sinking of two vessels and the attacking of a third. The British 1,500-ton collier Dulwich, at first reported simply as "blown up off the coast of France," was the first victim of the German submarines.

Later the French steamer Ville de Lille was sunk by the German submarine U-16 by means of explosives placed in her interior. The official French report of the sinking states:

"The French steamer Ville de Lille, belonging to the Compagnie Nationale des Bateaux à Vapeur du Nord, sailing from Cherbourg to Dunkirk, sighted the U-16 near the lighthouse at Barfleur at 1:30 o'clock.

"The Ville de Lille endeavored to escape, but was outspeeded by the submarine, men from which boarded her and gave the crew ten minutes to leave in the ship's boats. They then sunk the Ville de Lille by bombs placed in her interior.

"The U-16 headed for a Norwegian steamer, but sank out of sight when a division of French torpedo boats from Cherbourg appeared on the horizon.

"The Ville de Lille was a small steamship of 997 tons."

The Norwegian steamer referred to was the first neutral attacked.

GERMAN EDITOR READS U. S. OUT OF THE NEUTRALS

BERLIN (via Amsterdam), Feb. 18.—Criticism of the attitude of the United States by the German press reached a climax today when the Koelnische Zeitung editorially warned that country that if it misinterpreted Germany's conduct after receiving its reply sent from Berlin to Washington it would no longer be classed as neutral.

The newspaper printed the following comment on the German reply to the note from the American government:

"The German point of view cannot be explained in a more serious or conciliatory way. The note meets the American view to the utmost by allowing a convoy for mercantile vessels of warships.

"On the other hand, the note leaves no doubt that Germany is determined to defend herself against England's barbarism, since the neutral countries are impotent or unwilling to bring pressure upon England to respect the dictates of international law.

"Whoever after this note still misinterprets the sense and nature of Germany's conduct will, as far as we are concerned, be out of the ranks of the neutrals."

ENGLAND CALMLY SENDS SHIPS FORTH ON REGULAR SERVICE

LONDON, Feb. 18.—England is "sitting tight" today, awaiting the first blow of the German submarine fleet. Though the German proclamation making English and French waters a war zone went into effect at midnight, it was officially announced here this forenoon that regular steamer traffic between Folkestone, Calais, Boulogne, Dieppe, Southampton and Havre was being maintained, despite the German threat to mine all harbors.

A meeting of the cabinet was held at the home of Premier Asquith early in the day, but up to noon no formal proclamation in answer to that of Germany had been issued.

This led to reports that no such a proclamation would be issued, but that the British government, classifying the German menace as piracy, would not recognize Germany's attack as conducted under the rules of civilized warfare.

By adopting this attitude and holding the crews of German submarines to be pirates, it would be possible to hang them for murder if any were captured. An influential part of the public, led by Lord Charles Beresford, is in favor of this method of procedure.

The rules of international law provide that the penalty for piracy, on conviction, may be death.

MAY CALL IT PIRACY.

The first requirement to constitute an act of piracy jure gentium is that it must be an act of adequate violence. It need not necessarily be an act of depredation.

The second requirement is that the practical act must be committed outside the territorial jurisdiction of any civilized state, but a third holds that the perpetrators of the practical act must be without the authority of any recognized political community.

The third requirement might be overcome by England's refusal to recognize Germany further as entitled to consideration as a civilized nation.

The Westminster Gazette, which speaks for the government, today predicts a period of great naval activity in the "bread war," as the new conflict between England and Germany is now termed.

"For the next few weeks," it says, "we must expect a period of exceptional violence by land and sea. We shall sit through this without allowing ourselves to be scared or flustered.

AIMED AT NEUTRALS.

"What is new in the Berlin decree is aimed at neutrals rather more than belligerents. We are familiar with German mines and submarines; we are not inexperienced or unprepared to do our best.

"Both the allied governments will take a new offensive on land with equal firmness and equanimity. The Russians will be helped by the vigorous movements now reported from the West."

AUSTRIANS DEFEAT RUSSIANS IN GALICIA; CAPTURE 6,000

LONDON, Feb. 18.—The capture by Austrian troops of the important Galician railway centre of Kolomea on the Pruth River is announced in an official statement issued by the Vienna War Office today. The statement also tells of the capture of more than 6,000 Russians, 5,000 having been taken at Kolomea and 1,000 in the Carpathians. Kolomea is ninety-six miles southeast of Lemberg and forty-five miles northwest of Czernowitz, the capital of Bukowina. It controls the railroad line between Stanislau and Czernowitz, and its capture splits the Russian forces that have been driven back to these two cities, according to the Austrian statement.

RUSSIANS HOLD ENEMY.

At bay in their positions in northern Poland on the right bank of the Vistula River, the Russians are withstanding terrific attacks by the German forces advancing from Thorn and Soldau. Report received today from Petrograd stated that the German drive was being checked on the Plock-Racionz front, where the battle is raging with great intensity.

Further Russian successes in the Carpathians were announced by the Russian staff, these including the capture of more than 1,100 prisoners at one point and the complete annihilation of a German battalion at another. Most of the men in this battalion were killed by Russian bayonets. The survivors were captured.

The official report of the Russian general staff says:

"On the right bank of the Vistula the fighting is proceeding in almost the same regions as yesterday, with extreme desperation in certain sections, particularly about Plock.

TAKE 1,400 PRISONERS.

"In the Niemen region (east of the German frontier) only patrols of the enemy have been encountered by our troops.

"There is no change on the left bank of the Vistula or on the Bzura-Rawka front west of Warsaw.

"In Galicia we repulsed an attack yesterday in front of Klmva-Vykorotch with heavy loss to the enemy. Further east the enemy sought to attack us, but was unsuccessful in the Lubne-Studenne regions. In repulsing this attack we captured ten officers, more than 1,400 men and three machine guns.

"On the front from Koziowa to Wyszkow pass the Germans delivered a series of sustained impetuous attacks, pushing forward vigorously in the direction of Wyszkow.

"All were repulsed with heavy loss to the enemy. Almost a whole battalion was bayoneted. The survivors were captured.

"The situation in Bukowina is unchanged."

The new offensive movement by the allies in the west now extends over the greater part of the battle line and hard attacks have been delivered at half a dozen different points.

The gains made by the French in the Champagne district are considered unusually important, because of the nearness of the French to the German lines of communication in that region now. German prisoners taken in that part of the field were in bad condition from exposure and lack of food. They declared that many men in the trenches, both officers and privates, had gone violently insane from the exposure, the strain of constant fighting and the horrible sights which continually greeted their eyes.

Sniping operations on a big scale as well as fierce cannonades are reported from West Flanders. In Alsace the French are strengthening their positions.

This gigantic conflict has now been in progress for more than twenty-two weeks, with only one important and decisive development. This was the breakdown of the German forces defending Alsace and the invasion of Alsace-Lorraine by the French.

It is believed that Emperor William will shortly pay another visit to the western front and that his appearance will be the signal for another series of German assaults such as those recently made along the Aisne northeast of Soissons.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Common garden Sage and Sulphur makes streaked, faded or gray hair dark and glossy at once

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.—Advertisement.

ARREST HERRICK ON TAILOR BILL

Ralph M. Herrick, who sued Albert H. Waitt, a young millionaire, for $75,000 for alleged aleination of Mrs. Herrick's affections, was arrested today on a mesne process warrant as he was leaving the East Cambridge court with his counsel, Attorney John F. Ryan.

The warrant was served by Constable Stephen C. Bresnahan of Cambridge and sworn out by a tailor who claims Herrick has owed him $41 since January 24, 1912. Herrick expressed amusement over the arrest.

He was taken before Judge Almy in the Third District Court, a block away, and after a conference, it was agreed to give Herrick a hearing at 2 p. m.

The jury is out in the alienation suit. A verdict is expected before night. Judge White charged the jury this morning, following an announcement by Attorney Chester W. Ford, counsel for Waitt, that a stranger approached him and tried to make overtures as "a friend of a juror." Attorney Ford said he rebuffed the man.

Sound in Girl's Head Resembles Ticking of Watch

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18.—What physicians described as a rare case of tinnitus was exhibited here at the College of Physicians. The case was that of a girl, five, in whose head a sound resembling the ticking of a watch can be distinctly heard.

The ticking sound has been going on in the child's head for two months, according to the physicians who brought her to the meeting. By placing their ears close to the side of her head those present could plainly hear the sound, but none of the specialists were able to determine the cause of the trouble.

Jewish Charities Open Jobless Fund

Over $5,000 was raised in less than ten minutes as a beginning of the "necessity fund" to meet the increased demands upon the Jewish charities because of unemployment and business depression at a meeting of the Federated Jewish Charities directors held at the Elysium Club.

A committee of ten has been named to raise $25,000 within sixty days. This money will be used to assist the unemployed who have been flocking to the doors of the various constituent societies of the Federated Jewish Charities.

The following donations were made to the fund:

Says No One Need Remain Thin Now

Physician's Advice For Thin, Undeveloped Men and Women

Thousands of people suffer from excessive thinness, weak nerves and feeble stomachs who, having tried advertised flesh-makers, food-fads, physical culture stunts and rub-on creams, resign themselves to life-long skinniness and think nothing will make them fat. Yet their case is not hopeless. A recently discovered regenerative force makes fat grow after years of thinness, and is also unequalled for repairing the waste of sickness or faulty digestion and for strengthening the nerves. This remarkable discovery is called Sargol. Six strength-giving, fat-producing elements of acknowledged merit have been combined in this peerless preparation, which is endorsed by eminent physicians and used by prominent people everywhere. It is absolutely harmless, inexpensive and efficient.

A month's systematic use of Sargol should produce flesh and strength by correcting faults of digestion and by supplying highly concentrated fats to the blood. Increased nourishment is obtained from the food eaten, and the additional fats that thin people need are provided. All leading druggists supply Sargol and say there is a large demand for it.

While this new preparation has given splendid results as a nerve-tonic and vitalizer, it should not be used by nervous people unless they wish to gain at least ten pounds of flesh.

NEVADA DIVORCE BILL ADVANCED

RENO, Nev., Feb. 18.—The divorce bill has finally passed the Senate by a vote of 12 to 14. The divorce faction succeeded in switching one vote to their side, thereby giving them the constitutional majority necessary to adoption of the bill.

The question is still divided as to the Governor's stand. He was unquestionably elected on this one issue and the belief is strong that he will either sign it or let it become a law by default.

GERMAN REPLY TO UNITED STATES REFUSES TO TEMPER WAR ZONE NOTE

BERLIN PROFESSES FRIENDSHIP BUT RENEWS ITS WARNINGS

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent says an official telegram from Berlin states that the American Ambassador has received the following reply from the German Government to the United States' note of February 12:

> The Imperial Government has examined the communication from the United States Government in the same good will and friendship by which the communication seems to have been dictated.
> The Imperial German Government is in accord with the United States Government in that for both parties it is to a high degree desirable to avoid any misunderstanding which might arise from the measures announced by the German Admiralty and to provide against the occurrence of incidents which might trouble the friendly relations which so far happily exist between the two governments.
> With regard to assuring these friendly relations the German Government believes it may all the more reckon on a full understanding with the United States as the procedure announced by the German Admiralty (which is fully explained in the note of February 4) is in no way directed against the legitimate commerce or legitimate shipping of neutrals, but represents solely a measure of self-defence imposed on Germany by her vital interests against England's method of warfare which is contrary to international law and which so far no protest by neutrals has succeeded in bringing back to the generally recognized principles of law as existed before the outbreak of the present war.

The reply contains a proposal to ratify the Declaration of London concerning maritime warfare in agreement with the suggestion made by the United States at the commencement of the war, thus enabling Germany to import food and raw material. With this ratification, it is declared, all motives compelling Germany to act as she has announced would disappear.

Though the German government inclines to consider every measure to safeguard legitimate neutral shipping there are still two opposing circumstances:

First—The misuse of neutral flags by the British mercantile marine.

Second—Contraband trade in war materials by neutrals.

Regarding the latter the German government expresses the hope that the United States government will be induced once more to observe the conduct which is in agreement with a real spirit of neutrality.

Germany's reply refers to the delivery of war material by America to Germany's enemies and the decisive intention of Germany to prevent the supply to England and her allies.

It is pointed out that the German government has given opportunity during fourteen days for neutral shipping to avoid the threatened area. Those who now navigate through the war zone will have the responsibility for any accidents.

The German government entirely rejects responsibility for such accidents in the future.

In conclusion the German government recommends that the United States government cause all American ships passing through the theatre of naval war to be accompanied by convoys. It is emphatically pointed out that only those ships should be convoyed which do not carry contraband.

Regarding the flag question, the German government recommends that American ships avoid the naval war zone around England. The hope is expressed that the United States will fully respect the heavy struggle of Germany for her existence and will fully understand the motives and power and purpose of the measures announced.

U. S. RECOGNIZES STRENGTH OF GREAT BRITAIN'S POSITION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Comment on Sir Edward Grey's full reply to the American protest against British interference with neutral shipping today was withheld in official circles.

The strength of the British position is recognized, however. It also is conceded that many of the contentions that the United States raised in the original note have been rendered valueless by succeeding events, such as the German war zone declaration and the complete blockade of all German ports by Great Britain.

There is said to be no disposition in Washington now to pursue further the differences with Great Britain over the seizure and detention of American vessels, in view of the much more dangerous problems before the American government.

CONTENTS OF GREY'S NOTE

Sir Edward Grey says in reply the British government has not interfered in any way with any ships that have sailed from the United States to any country except Holland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Italy.

The note, addressed to Ambassador Page by Sir Edward Grey, under date of February 10, denies that the depression in American industries is due to the activity of the British fleet and suggests among other causes the shortage of shipping facilities, the consequent diminution of the cotton trade and the destruction of many neutral vessels by submarine mines "laid by the enemy indiscriminately."

The communication contains in its concluding paragraph the announcement that Great Britain intends to take retaliatory measures against the German submarine campaign against enemy ships, but does not reveal their nature.

Conceding that foodstuffs intended for the civil population of a country are not contraband, the British government points out that "in any country in which exists such tremendous organization for war as now obtains in Germany, there is no clear division between those whom the government is responsible for feeding and those whom it is not."

"It will still be our endeavor," says the final paragraph, "to avoid injury and loss to neutrals, but the announcement by the German government of their intention to sink merchant vessels and their cargoes without verification of their nationality or character and without making any provision for the safety of noncombatant crews or giving them a chance of saving their lives, has made it necessary for His Majesty's government to consider what measures they should adopt to protect their interests.

"It is impossible for one belligerent to depart from rules and precedents and for the other to remain bound by them."

"BLAME NOT ENGLAND'S."

The new note, about 10,000 words long, includes statistical argument and a further discussion of the legal principles involved.

Since the presentation of the preliminary note, Sir Edward states, he has had "further opportunity of examining into the trade statistics of the United States as embodied in the customs returns, in order to see whether the belligerent action of Great Britain has been in any way the cause of the depression which Your Excellency (Ambassador Page) described as existing in the United States and also whether the seizures of vessels or cargoes which have been made by the British navy have inflicted any loss on American owners for which our existing machinery provides no means of redress."

"It is unfortunately true," says Sir Edward, "that in these days, when trade and finance are cosmopolitan, any war, particularly any war of magnitude, must result in serious dislocation of commerce, including that of the nations which take no part in the war. Your Excellency will realize that in this tremendous struggle, for the outbreak of which Great Britain is in no way responsible, it is impossible for the trade of any country to escape all injury and loss, but for such His Majesty's government is not to blame."

ADMITS FORTY-FIVE DETAINED.

Sir Edward points out that only eight out of 773 ships sailing from the United States for neutral European countries have been placed in the prize courts, and that only forty-five have been "temporarily detained to enable particular consignments of cargo to be discharged for the purpose of prize court proceedings."

The note does not go into detail as to American ships detained on the high seas or taken to British ports for search.

Statistics of exports from the United States make it clear, says the note, "that, if cotton be excluded, the effect of the war has been not to increase, but practically to arrest the decline of American exports which is attributed to the war is essentially due to cotton."

Pointing out that Great Britain has never declared cotton contraband or interfered with its shipment, the note then remarks that imports of cotton to the United Kingdom fell as heavily as those to other countries, and the same "no doubt was true of France."

"The general result," it continues, "is to show conclusively that the naval operations of Great Britain are not the cause of any diminution in the volume of American exports and that if the commerce of the United States is in the unfavorable condition which Your Excellency describes, the cause ought in fairness to be sought elsewhere than in the activities of His Majesty's naval forces."

QUOTE FROM SEWARD.

Moreover, the British communication contends that even though trade between the United States and the United Kingdom has diminished from normal, the commerce with neutral countries as compared with previous years has been maintained and the inference "may fairly be drawn" that a substantial part of this trade was, in fact, intended for the enemy countries, going through neutral ports by routes to which it was previously unaccustomed."

The hope is expressed that the United States will realize that the detention of neutral ships by the allies has not contributed nearly so much to the shortage of shipping "as has the destruction of neutral vessels by submarine mines indiscriminately laid by the enemy on the high seas many miles from the coast in the track of merchant vessels."

"Up till now," continued the note, "twenty-five neutral vessels have been reported as destroyed by mines on the high seas. Quite apart from all questions of breach of treaties and the destruction of life, there is far more reason for protest on the score of belligerent interference with innocent neutral trade through the mines scattered by the enemy, than through the British exercise of the right of seizing contraband."

The doctrine of continuous voyage as enunciated during the Civil War by Secretary Seward is quoted at length and the cases of American practice during the Spanish-American War are cited, and the note says these precedents are inconsistent with the statement of the American government made to the British ambassador November 7, which insists that search should be made on the high seas and that the conclusion should rest on the evidence found on the ship and not upon circumstances ascertained from external sources.

CITES OWN COURSE.

To take a ship into port, the note contends, is not to be looked upon as a new belligerent right, but as an adaptation of the existing right to the modern conditions of commerce" and, like all belligerent rights, it must be exercised "with due regard to neutral interests."

"It is the common experience of every war," continues the note, "that neutrals whose attempts to engage in suspicious trading are frustrated by a belligerent are wont to have recourse to their government to urge that diplomatic remonstrances should be made on their behalf and that redress should be obtained for them in this way.

"When an effective mode of redress is open to them in the courts of a civilized country, by which they can obtain adequate satisfaction for any invasion of their rights which is contrary to the laws of nations, the only course which is consistent with sound principle is that they should be referred to that mode of redress, and that no diplomatic action should be taken until their legal remedies have been exhausted and they are in a position to show prima facie denials of justice."

The British government recalls that it followed this course with its own ships during the American Civil War and the Spanish-American War.

Ambassador Page is reminded that he has now been supplied by the British Foreign Office "with particulars of every ship under American colors detained and of every shipment of cargo in which an American citizen appears to be partly interested."

GERMAN FOOD PLANS.

Turning to the question of conditional contraband and foodstuffs, the note quotes Prince Bismarck's answer to the Kiel Chamber of Commerce in 1884 in connection with the treatment of rice as contraband in the French-Chinese war, as follows:

"The measure in question has for its object the shortening of the war by increasing the difficulties of the enemy and is a justifiable step in war if impartially enforced against all neutral ships."

The British note here remarks:

"His Majesty's government are disposed to think that the same view is still maintained by the German government.

"Another circumstance which is now coming to light is that an elaborate machinery has been organized by the enemy for supply of foodstuffs for the use of the German army from overseas.

"Under these circumstances it would be absurd to give any definite pledge that in cases where the supplies can be proved to be for the use of the enemy forces they would be given complete immunity by the simple expedient of dispatching them to an agent in a neutral port."

"The reason for drawing a distinction between foodstuffs intended for the civil population and those for the armed forces or enemy government disappears when the distinction between the civil population and the armed forces itself disappears.

FURNISH STATISTICS.

"In any country in which there exists such tremendous organization for war as now obtains in Germany there is no clear division between those whom the government is responsible for feeding and those whom it is not. Experience shows that the power to requisition will be used to the fullest extent in order to make sure that the wants of the military are supplied, and however much goods may be imported for civil use it is by the military that they will be consumed if military exigencies require it, especially now that the German government have taken control of all the foodstuffs in the country."

After giving statistics tending to show that supplies are reaching neutral ports from the United States to "an unprecedented extent" Sir Edward points out that Great Britain has recognized "the transfer to a neutral flag of enemy ships belonging to companies which were incorporated in the enemy country, but all of whose shareholders were neutral," even waiving objections to companies "incorporated in Germany which were subsidiary to and owned by American corporations," the only condition being imposed that these vessels "should take no further part in trade with the enemy country."

"CONSIDER NEUTRALS."

"I have given these indications," concludes Sir Edward, "of the policy which we have followed, because I cannot help feeling that if the facts were fully known as to the efforts which we have made to avoid inflicting any avoidable injury on neutral interests, many of the complaints which have been received by the administration in Washington and which led to the protest of Your Excellency handed to me on the twenty-eighth of December, would never have been made.

"My hope is that when the facts which I have set out above are realized and when it is seen that our naval operations have not diminished American trade with neutral countries and that the lines on which we have acted are consistent with the fundamental principles of international law, it will be apparent to the government and people of the United States that His Majesty's government have hitherto endeavored to exercise their belligerent rights with every possible consideration for the rights and interests of neutrals."

Midnight Dances in War Trenches

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Midnight dances are a feature of British army life in the trenches in West Flanders, according to a letter from a gunner of the One Hundred and Thirteenth Battery, Royal Field Artillery.

"We have occasional midnight waltzes," he says, "when we cease firing for a few minutes, the music being supplied by a mouth organ, treasured by one of the gunners."

NEW ZEPPELIN AIRSHIP WRECKED

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 18.—A Zeppelin airship which was stranded upon the Danish island of Fanoe, was identified today by a correspondent of the Politiken as the L-3, a new and powerful airship constructed since the beginning of the war to strengthen the German aerial forces.

Telegraphing from Esjberg, the correspondent states that the crew set fire to the airship after it landed on Fanoe, and that it was completely destroyed. He adds that the crew have been taken to Esjberg and interned.

According to the officer in command of the L-3 it was making a scouting trip over the North Sea, when it got out of control and had to descend.

Acute Articular Rheumatism
Relieved By Anti-Kamnia Tablets

The exact cause of rheumatism is unknown, though it is generally believed to be due to an excess of uric acid in the blood. It may be also said with equal truth that no remedy has been found which is a specific in all cases. In fact the literature of rheumatism shows that there are but few drugs which have not been given a trial. In the hands of one observer we find that a certain drug has been used with the utmost satisfaction; others have found the same remedy to be a great disappointment. All physicians however agree that every method of treatment is aided by the administration of some remedy to relieve the pain and quiet the nervous system and Dr. W. S. Schultze expresses the opinion of thousands of practitioners when he says that Anti-kamnia Tablets should be given preference over all other remedies for the relief of the pain in all forms of rheumatism. These tablets can be purchased in any quantity. They are also unsurpassed in headaches, neuralgias and all pain. Ask for A-K Tablets.

Quality First

"What soup shall I have?"

That is the puzzling question!

Are you planning an elaborate function? Or is it one of those semi-formal "little" dinners, or luncheons which help to make the social world go round?

In any case the wise and easy answer may well be

Campbell's Tomato Soup

Prepare it either as a light tomato bouillon or as a rich cream-of-tomato; or serve it in bouillon-cups topped with whipped cream. And there are many other tempting ways.

It is readily adapted to any meal. And its rich distinctive quality commends it to the most fastidious taste.

REPORT COE FOUND AND ON WAY HERE

The head of a Boston detective agency which is hunting for Henry Clarke Coe, Jr., is reported to be out of town on a mysterious trip. It is intimated Coe has been found and that the detective has gone to meet agents who are returning to Boston with the young Standard Oil salesman.

Quite a few of Coe's friends think he pawned his watch and his fur coat. The coat is worth $275 and the watch $150 or more.

The watch is an eighteen-jewel Hamilton, No. 23 pattern, with Coe's monogram on the back and a picture of his eighteen-year-old wife in the case. It is numbered 785,902, a comparatively recent issue.

On the day he vanished Coe had $100 and as much more in checks made out to him by the Standard Oil Company for salary and expenses. If he went to the Canadian Northwest it is thought he may have been compelled to raise funds not only on the watch and fur coat, but also on his amethyst scarf pin and his triple-stoned diamond ring.

If he did pawn these articles it was not in Boston, so far as could be learned by an AMERICAN reporter who made careful study of police and pawn shop records today. It is possible Coe first exhausted his pocket money and disposed of his collateral in some other city.

The police records embracing the reports for every day since January 30 and including all pawn shops and second-hand shops and every other place of redemption showed no trace of Coe's watch or jewelry.

A young man giving his name as Thomas J. McGann, a deaf mute, of Comins terrace, Roxbury, wrote on a pad for an AMERICAN reporter today a story to the effect that on February 12 he met a man he believes to have been Coe near Roxbury Crossing, and that he "conversed" with him by means of his pad. McGann says "Coe" gave him money, cigars and cigarettes, and had a large roll of bills. He declares he met the same man the next day at the Dudley street terminal and was given more money.

TELLS OF NAMES APPLIED BY CABOT

Much of the testimony in the two-billion-dollar Cabot will case, which was resumed today in the Suffolk County Probate Court before Judge Hardy and a jury, centered about Miss Emily A. Spicer, formerly a companion maid for Mrs. Louis Cabot. In her evidence she said:

"I often heard Mr. Cabot, after his wife's death, refer to his daughters as fools. When Mrs. Briggs came to the house in Brookline, and went away early, it seemed to grieve Mr. Cabot. He seemed to have more affection for Mrs. Bartol than for Mrs. Briggs.

"In talking about some of the actions of men he knew, he would exclaim: 'Oh, he's a jackass.' He might have applied some such term as this to his own daughters after he had learned about the way they were caring for the mental training of their children.

"When discussing certain persons he would call them 'geese,' or 'congenital idiots.' Many who did not come up to his idea were called 'deadly stupid.'"

Attorney Choate read an affidavit from Dr. Ernest S. Cross of Athen, who made 260 professional calls upon Mr. Cabot during the Winters of 1912 to 1914. This pronounced him of a sound mind.

"He had a remarkable memory and could recollect many things about his boyhood in Boston and his experiences in the Civil War. He was in my opinion, of a sound mind," said this doctor.

Boy Leper Thomas Dead

Pneumonia Attack Fatal

Archie Thomas, the boy leper on Penikese Island, who is dead of pneumonia. Only recently he was given the wireless outfit which he craved and with which he hoped to relieve the deadly monotony of the leper colony confinement.

Mother with Famous Penikese Island Colony Patient to the End.

Archie Thomas, the boy leper of Penikese Island, is dead.

Information came to relatives of the brave lad today by telegraph that he passed away late last night from pneumonia, which developed from a severe cold.

He was twenty-three years old and has been on lonely Penikese Island, accompanied by his devoted mother as nurse, since March, 1909. He was sent there from his home in Upton by the law after a strange disease which he developed was confirmed as the dread leprosy of ancient days.

The wireless world will learn with sorrow that "IZP" is dead.

"I Z P" was Archie Thomas' radio call letter as a wireless operator. When that call came over land or sea for a radius of 700 miles all wireless operators receiving it knew that the boy leper at Penikese, sitting at the wireless outfit presented him by a sympathetic public, was calling to his wireless colleagues. The call was always answered and thus the boy was able, with all observance of his legal isolation, to keep in touch with outside humanity.

Only a fortnight ago, on February 2, Archie was granted a first grade commercial operator's license—No. 4462—bu the Bureau of Navigation of the Department of Commerce at Washington. This was granted him without examination upon the recommendation of H. C. Cawler, United States radio inspector for this district.

THE BOY'S CALL.

The makeup of the boy's call letter in the radio list was devised by Inspector Gawler with reference to his location. he "L" was for the first radio district. The "Z" referred to his class as a special amateur, for this call letter was fixed when he was operating under that kind of a license. The "P" was for "Penikese," the island fourteen miles off New Bedford in Buzzards Bay, where the Massachusetts State Board of Charity maintains its leper colony.

$750,000 Yacht to Be Built in Maine

BATH, Me., Feb. 18.—A contract has been closed by the Bath Iron Works for a large steel ocean-going pleasure yacht for P. W. Rouse, a member of the New York Yacht Club. The total cost is estimated to be upwards of $750,000.

MAY PROSECUTE FOOD DEALERS

Consonant with the announcement of the Department of Agriculture made public today, prosecution will be asked in various cities of the country of dealers in foodstuffs in which the prices to the consumer have been raised arbitrarily.

Most important of these charges of "conspiracy in the restraint of trade" as the price-gouging is technically called, is that in New York. Deputy Attorney General Becker of the State of New York announced today he would ask for an indictment against the Ward Baking Company as a result of the investigation by the Attorney-General's office into the increased price of bread.

According to the Department of Agriculture, foodstuffs should be normal or below the price of a year ago. The report states that the surplus of wheat, above domestic needs, on hand February 1, would permit the exportation daily of 1,000,000 bushels until the new crop is available.

This exportation daily (1,000,000 bushels about the recent daily average) would easily allow of a price below that of a year ago according to the reasoning of the experts of the Department of Agriculture. It was also pointed out that the average prices of meat animals is 7 per cent lower than a year ago, butter 2 per cent, potatoes 35 per cent, apples 37 per cent.

Millionaire for a Day McDevitt Hunts Heiress Bride Here

John J. McDevitt, the Wilkes-Barre "millionaire for a day," will reach Boston by special train, February 21, in search of an heiress bride. He writes: "I have read the speech Daniel Webster made at Bunker Hill and I have always thought I could go Daniel one better. When I was in New York I was told the girls in Boston were more natural. About all the girls I saw in the big town tried to look like well-known actresses."

Yale Scholarship Honor for Taft, 2d

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 18.—The biggest man in the Yale class of 1918 is Charles H. Taft, 2d, son of the former President Taft. He has been declared the scholarship leader of his class. As a result of the semi-annual examinations which have just closed, it is certain that he leads in general scholarship averages for the first half year.

JANE PEYTON, whose marriage to Guy Bates Post has been annulled by courts.

GUY BATES POST MARRIAGE VOID

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—The marriage of Guy Bates Post, actor-producer, and his actress wife, Jane Peyton Post, has been annulled in the courts of this city on the ground that Mrs. Post had discovered that her divorce from her second husband was not a binding one.

Mrs. Post's first husband was Dr. Robert Curtis Brown, a Milwaukee physician, from whom she was divorced. Later she married Arthur Cecil Gordon Weld, a musician, who has since died, but was alive at the time of her marriage to Post.

Mrs. Post has appeared in "The Virginian" and other successes. Post last appeared in "Omar the Tentmaker."

WALSH'S CHARGE DENIED BY J.D., JR.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—In reply to a statement issued by Chairman Frank P. Walsh of the United States Commission on Industrial Relations, in which he declares that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., said that the funds of the Rockefeller Foundation could be used to establish a strike-breaking agency if the Foundation believed that the breaking of a strike would be advantageous to the American workman, Mr. Rockefeller says:

"This statement, as reported, is absolutely false. Any such interference was unwarranted by the spirit of my testimony. Such use of its funds by the Foundation would be in violation of the law granting its charter.

"Mr. Walsh is, of course, aware that strike-breaking is a very sensitive subject with workingmen. He well knows that if I had made such a statement as this it would inflame the minds of workingmen against the Rockefeller Foundation, as well as against those who were trying to administer its affairs."

Identify Mail Men by Photographs

As a precaution against fraud the Civil Service Commission has notified Postmaster Murray that every recommendation for promotion in Boston postal district, except those of rural carriers and fourth-class postmasters, must be accompanied by a photograph of the person recommended. The commission also requires that, in cases of appointments, the appointing officer shall be furnished with a photograph of the appointee and shall certify that the appointee is the original of the photograph.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or, rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that Indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach, much like garbage sours in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescing and, furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.—Advertisement.

ANSWERS TO BEAUTY QUESTIONS

By CLAIRE AINSWORTH,

The Notedly Beautiful Singer.

Bess B. asks: "I am getting more fleshy day by day and have resorted to [illegible] treatments to reduce. Please tell me of a safe, harmless and effective remedy."

Answer: Get from a well-stocked drugstore [illegible] tablets and take according to directions in each tube. This formula is prescribed widely by physicians, and [illegible] I personally know have it is harmless and very effective.

Mrs. P. R. asks: "I would give anything I possess to find something to overcome my scrawny arms, hands, neck and bust. What am I to do?"

Answer: First, take a good tonic and flesh builder, and for this I know of nothing better than 3-grain hypo-nuclane tablets, sold in most pharmacies. Then the parts should daily be supplied with a nourishing skin food, and for this use [illegible], in sealed tubes, medicated [illegible], which is especially used by actresses and society women to develop the bust, arms and neck. Full directions are given with the article, and rapid development is certain to follow its use.

A. C. B. asks: "Can you recommend a remedy to make the hair fluffy, wavy and curling?"

Answer: Have you ever tried glycerine [illegible]? It is a delightful hairdressing, makes dressing easy and makes the hair curl and wave beautifully. One application will keep the hair in curl for a week or more, and many report that after it has been used repeatedly the hair assumes a natural wave and curl.

Myrtle B. asks: "Will you please tell me of a good, reliable and harmless hair [illegible]?"

Answer: [illegible]

Miss F. G.: You ask for a fragrant, long lasting face powder. [illegible]

Mrs. M.: An oily, shiny skin [illegible] daily applications of [illegible] arms, neck and face.

NOTE—If the reader does not find the information wanted in the questions answered above, just address a letter to Miss Claire Ainsworth, 40 [illegible] Bldg., Dayton, Ohio, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope, and she will gladly answer all health and beauty problems. The articles and preparations mentioned are on sale by all wholesale druggists, large retail and department stores, or any accommodating dealer can obtain them for you. "Diana the Huntress" (And Her Pack)

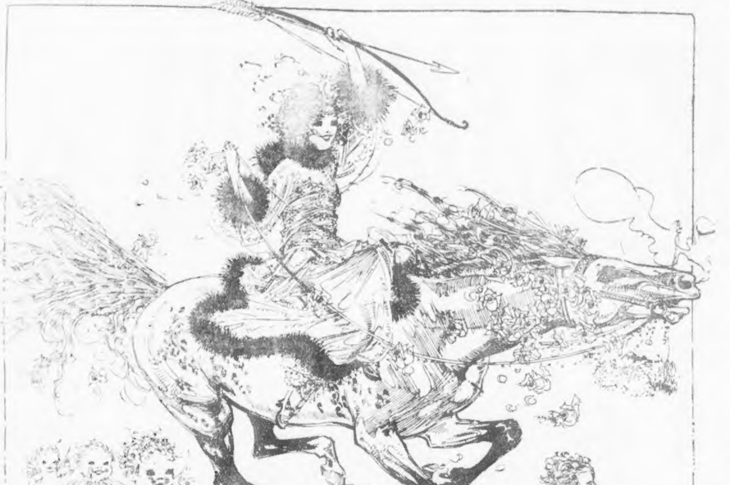
By NELL BRINKLEY

Copyright, 1915, by International News Service.



PARDON, pretty bachelor-tribe, for of course you're really very nice as a small boy in spite of his beautiful conceit; pardon the little black woman of a pen point, who just likes to scratch away for the love of scratching; but isn't she right this time? Isn't this the nightmarish fancy that you hold in the secret den of your heart—the real picture of what you truly believe of woman-creatures?

Y-e-e-es! A lightning swift thing of beauty and enchantment, hard on the fresh trail of a scampering man, scouring the country like the west wind, relentless, mocking, bent on carrying his scalp at her saddle-bow, thirsty for his freedom; and flowing beside her, flying when they can't run any faster, laughing and yapping, go her terrifying pack! And the man is you, of course!—NELL BRINKLEY.

A Pair of Sixes

A Story of Love and Laughter Based on the Great Comedy Success of the Same Name

[illegible]

Novelized

By A. A. WATERBURY,

Novelizer of "The Family Cupboard," "At Bay," etc., etc.

"BUT somebody's got to tell her. If you don't and I don't—then poor 'T.'s just got to."

"Oh, well, that's different. 'T.' has more reason to want to explain. Besides I can use his five thousand very nicely," replied her liege lord blandly.

"Oh, George, that isn't fair. It's cruel—it's—it's"——

"Say, Nellie, you are almost crying now. Why are you always taking sides for him?"

There was a hint of uneasiness in the erstwhile partner of T. Boggs Johns.

"Because I have a heart. How could you ever make that horrid contract?"

"He forced me into it. [illegible] For three years that fellow has made my life a curse. Now I'm going to make his life a curse—for just one year from date thereof."

"HOW CAN YOU?"

"How can you—George, how can you?" pleaded the woman.

"Oh, I guess I CAN, all right. And there's Van—good old Van, he helped me when he dealt me that little pair of sixes—and now, by Jiminy, I'm going to fix up things for him!"

"And what of me?" asked Nellie angrily.

"Of you?" ejaculated her husband. "Nellie, darling"——

"Yes. You risked me. I've never quite forgiven you for that. What would I have done—wife—a butler—for a husband!"

George Nettleton felt sure that Nellie must be about to have one of her hysterical fits. For full two weeks he had been enjoying his triumphant mastery of the situation and of poor 'T.,' who must forsooth play butler. Suddenly the situation seemed to lose much if not all of the charm and savor.

"Oh—there's the door bell now—and I know I look a fright. I wouldn't have Florence see me with a red nose—any more than I would have her invited if I could have helped it."

"No, don't let her see you crying. Run up to your room!"

Mrs. Nettleton rose with the dignified ignoring of her own weakness that characterizes the jealous woman. "You want to get rid of me—well, I guess I'll powder my own nose in my own drawing room if I like."

"All right, then. Stay where you are." And gritting his teeth, Nettleton went to answer the summons of the door bell, even as Johns came into the room with his most sanctimonious air of being a "English" butler.

"Never mind, Boggs—I'll answer it," said his master affably.

"What! You?" and Nellie looked up from the ministrations of her powder puff as the "butler" exclaimed in stately surprise.

"Well? Can't I answer my own door bell? What's the matter with you? Clear out! I guess I haven't always had a dub of a butler to try to give me orders."

The door slammed after Johns and the red notebook came out again almost automatically and another hundred dollars was lost to 'T.' Boggs Johns.

In the next minute a radiant looking and refreshed Nellie was welcoming a little [illegible] to a 'T' in a soft green faille suit and was declaring to that very guest over whom she had recently debated. "I'm so glad you've come! I've just been longing for you from the minute I asked dear old George to write to you."

Sic semper femina! But Nettleton looked a bit at this latest piece of feminine duplicity.

SHE FEELS AT HOME

"How well you're looking. And how well dear old George is looking," said Florence of the red locks and sharpened perceptions. "Shall I kiss him too?"

"What? Why, certainly—if you like—kissing other women's husbands."

"There—now I feel at home," beamed Florence cherubically, plumping into a big chair that fairly swallowed her. Her comfort increased in direct ratio to Nellie's discomfort.

"Yes? Ha, ha!" was her hostess' mirthless reply. "So it seems—but since you are at home, I shan't make company of you. I'm going up to dress for dinner."

"To dress? Will there be company? Oh, Nellie, I can't dress! Oh, my trunk isn't here yet and you know it. And here I must stay in the clothes I've worn on the train."

Florence gazed tellingly under a hat-brim faced in black velvet. But it was at George she gazed. George's wife hardened her heart.

"Oh, you're all right," said Nellie in the tone one woman uses to another when she means subtly to convey, "Oh, you're all wrong."

"Just home folks," soothed Nettleton. "Van is coming."

Why My Wife Left Me

No. 9—The Husband Who Thought Too Well of Himself Tells How He Was Disillusioned

BY DOROTHY DIX.

"I [illegible] was [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] AS ILLUSION

[illegible]

"In looking back upon the wreck of our lives, I can't remember that I ever did a single, solitary thing to make my wife happy or to entertain her or [illegible] bright and agreeable for her. Of course, I supported her, or I thought I did, though perhaps the woman who gives her entire time and strength to keeping a comfortable home has some different ideas on the subject and considers that she earns her own board and clothes. [illegible] should, if I worked that hard for any employer, and expect some pocket money besides, which my wife never got though I'm not a tightwad whatever my other faults. As [illegible] the family talk [illegible]

"I expected my wife to always have [illegible] and dinner prepared for me. Sometimes I [illegible] to eat at. Sometimes I did not. It all happened on whether [illegible] were agreeable to me or not. If it was pleasant for me to stay downtown, I stayed, without a thought of the hours of work she had spent in cooking just what I liked to eat, or of the lonely and discouraged evenings I was leaving her to spend alone.

LOOKED AS IF HE FELT

"When I was at home if I felt like talking I talked. Otherwise I sat silent and grumpy, or read the paper. I never took the trouble to try to be entertaining to my wife as I would to any strange woman at a dinner party.

"Of course, we went to the theatre—when I felt like it—and we went to entertainments given by our friends, but half the time when I went to places with my wife where I really enjoyed myself very much I went so unwillingly and with such an ill grace that I must have spoiled all of her pleasure by my conduct.

"Like so many other married men, I regarded my wife's family as my hereditary foes, though they are, in reality, charming and delightful people. But when any of them came to visit us, and especially when her mother came, I went about with the air of a persecuted martyr, and was so cross and glum that it simply tortured my wife trying to keep things pleasant on the outside and make her mother feel welcome, and from perceiving how desperate I was.

"'How quiet John is,' I remember hearing my mother-in-law say once when I was indulging in one of those silent grouches.

"'Oh, yes, mother, he is very quiet,' my wife answered, with a little break in her voice.

"'Do you know, that surprises me!' replied my mother-in-law, innocently, 'for when he was courting you one of the things that I liked about him was that he was so jolly. A cheerful husband does so much to make a bright home.'

"'Men change so after they are married,' my wife answered—and it stabs me to the heart to remember the sadness of her reply.

"I never did a single thing to try to make my wife happy. I never devised any little pleasure for her. I never suggested her going on any little trip or taking any little pleasure. Everything she got out of me she got after a wrangle over it that rubbed all of the gilt off the gingerbread. Worse still, I talked to her as I would not have talked to any other woman on earth.

"She stood it for a few years, then she got tired and quit. She divorced me and married another man. I saw her the other day, and her face had lost the old strained expression it wore when we were married. She looked very peaceful and happy.

"Not all married women who are miserable have the courage to get divorces, but when I see a man treating his wife as I treated mine I wonder if he doesn't know that he has lost her, even though she may be sitting by his side."

Heads Maine Grange.

BANGOR, Feb. 18.—C. O. Purington has been elected head of the Maine State Grange lecturers' conference. Harlan P. Ellis has been elected secretary and treasurer.

To Cure Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal remedy that in many instances has effected a complete cure after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick tell how they have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows: Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (double strength), about 75c worth. Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. [illegible] is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective. Every person who has catarrh in any form should give this recipe a trial and free themselves from this destructive disease.—Advertisement.

UGICAL DYSPEPSIA TREATMENT

Irtance of Eliminating Acidity and Food Fermentation

aring the past two or three ys reports have frequently apped in the Press concerning the markable value of bisurated magnesia as an antacid and its ability promote normal healthy digestion by preventing food fermentation and neutralizing dangerous stomach acid has often been demonstrated. Until recently druggists ld supply bisurated magnesia in wder form only, from one to two spoonfuls of which, taken in a ile water after meals, almost instantly stops all fermentation and utralizes acid, but sufferers from mach trouble will be glad to rn that after a long series of experiments a leading firm of manufacturing druggists has succeeded in producing a 5 grain tablet which combines all the valuable antacid properties of the ordinary bisurated magnesia in a convenient form. This new tablet of bisurated magnesia can now be obtained of druggists everywhere and many physicians are already prescribing them instead of the powder.—Advertisement.

$100,000 CAR BARN FIRE IN WESTBORO

WESTBORO, Feb. 18.—The big Boston & Worcester Railway car barn here was burned today with a loss estimated at $100,000 by Superintendent H. H. McLean of the company.

The flames destroyed eighty interurban passenger cars, the value of which was more than $80,000. A current transforming station was also destroyed.

The loss of cars and wreckage across the tracks tied up the trolley service between Boston and Worcester for several hours.

The barn was a brick structure with wooden roof. The roof was entirely burned and the walls were fire-scorched. The five tracks in the barn were filled with cars, most of which were a total loss. The flames are supposed to have started from crossed wires.

The fire was discovered at [illegible]. A telephone to Westboro Centre, two miles away, brought the entire town apparatus, and the Lyman School for Boys here also sent in its fire equipment.

By the time the apparatus reached the barn the flames had gained great headway.

It was said that no one was hurt though there were many employes in the barn at the time.

GIRLS! CLEAN AND BEAUTIFY HAIR NO DANDRUFF—25 CENT DANDERINE

Stop washing hair! Try this! Makes hair glossy, soft and abundant.

Surely, try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed. For sale by Riker-Jaynes and all good druggists.—Advertisement.

BUNDLE DAY IS NEXT WEDNESDAY

This Is Everybody's Opportunity to Help the Deserving in Their Many Needs.

Bundle Day will be Wednesday, February 24.

This was decided upon at the organization of Bundle Day Committee at a large and enthusiastic meeting of representatives of churches, charitable, labor, and other organizations, in the Tremont Temple Building.

Bundle Day will be a memorable day in the history of this city. It will demonstrate the splendid, never failing philanthropic spirit of Boston—always the first to respond to an appeal for aid from the deserving. It is the day when all families or individuals who have discarded garments will wrap them into bundles and deliver them to express and other wagons which will traverse streets in all parts of the city to make collections.

The clothing thus obtained will be distributed to needy persons who are in want of overcoats, hats, shoes, suits, shirts, waists, undergarments and every kind of apparel. The distribution will be from the old Armory building at No. 11 Wareham street.

The utmost care will be taken to see that everything contributed is given to worthy people. There will be no line of applicants stretched along Wareham street from the door of headquarters. Nothing will be given to individuals who come there for relief. All distribution will be made in answer to applications in the manner and form to be announced. The distribution, in fact, will be only through organized mediums of relief.

FLY FLAG AS NOTICE.

If any individual or family has a bundle for Bundle Day let them display the Stars and Stripes on Wednesday, February 24, from their home. It is customary to display the American flag for patriotism. This is an occasion when it will be waved in the interest of humanity.

Fly the flag and send a postal card, or telephone to the headquarters of the Bundle Day Committee at No. 11 Wareham street. If you have a bundle and no flag, send the postal card or telephone to headquarters just the same. Ransack attics and closets and see if there is any garment for children or grown-ups you can spare. You may answer someone's prayer by making up a bundle.

When the organizers for Bundle Day met the object of the movement was explained. Frank Palmer Speare referred to the number of the people who are out of employment and who are in urgent need of assistance. Mr. Speare, who is director of education at the Y. M. C. A., made a stirring address which evoked prolonged applause. There was a call for nomination of officers and members of the committee from the floor. The Rev. Paul Harris Drake, pastor of the Barnard Memorial Church, was elected chairman. Mrs. Fred E. Dowling of the Brighthelmstone Club was elected secretary, and Mrs. Frank W. Lucas of No. 116 Massachusetts avenue, representing the Women's City Club; David A. Lourie of No. 801 Old South building, representing the Home for Jewish Children; Martin T. Joyce of No. 821 Old South Building, representing the Massachusetts State Branch of the American Federation of Labor; Mrs. Stephen H. Roblin of No. 85 Manchester road, Brookline, representing the Second Society of Universalists of Boston, and Mrs. Albert Dale of No. 8 Cushing terrace, Dorchester, representing the Junior Charity Club, were elected members of the executive committee.

There was a debate as to what date should be Bundle Day and the Rev. Mr. Miller of the First Methodist Church suggested March 2, while Ignatius McNulty, president of the Boston Buildings Trades Council, urged distribution as soon as possible, the text of his remarks being "Do It Now." Wednesday, February 24, was finally decided upon as the best date for distribution.

PRAISE BUNDLE PLANS.

Among speakers who praised the purpose of the movement and urged the utmost effort to make it a success were Mrs. Frank L. Young of the Civic Federation; John J. Barry, president of the Boston Central Labor Union; Mrs. Roblin, wife of the Rev. Stephen H. Roblin; Mrs. Lucy A. Stockbridge, representing the Boston Daughters of Maine; Senator Sanford Bates of Dorchester; Brigadier Joseph Sheppard of the Salvation Army; Mrs. Arthur Tolliday of the Warren Avenue Baptist Church and George P. MacLellan, treasurer of the Eliot Square Storage Warehouse Company. Mr. MacLellan offered the committee 10,000 square feet of floor space for bundles.

Mrs. Tolliday praised the distribution of Christmas Baskets under the AMERICAN's auspices and stated that there could be no better agency for Bundle Day distribution than that.

BOY WHO FAILED IN STUDY MISSING

WORCESTER, Feb. 18.—Mr. and Mrs. James F. McKenna of No. 22 Edgeworth street, parents of sixteen-year-old James F. McKenna, appealed to the AMERICAN today to help them find their boy, who left school and home on January 8, after finding on his desk at the North High School a note that he was rated "D" in Greek, Latin and English, and that unless his work improved in one week, he would be disqualified from athletics.

McKenna was one of the star athletes of the North High. He was in the Junior class and, up to this term, stood high in his studies. He was doing extra work, taking two more courses than the required four.

When he read the note he left the school and has not been seen since by chums or relatives. A few days later his desk was searched. This note was found:

"I'm done with school. I am going to work somewhere."

He had about $11. His parents believe he has secured work in Boston. He is the only boy of five children.

The lad is of sensitive nature and the parents, while reporting the case to the police, asked that it be kept from the papers at the time lest publicity make the boy ashamed to return. The description given the police reads:

"Left his home January 8, James F. McKenna, age sixteen, large for his age, 5 feet 7 inches, medium complexion, blue eyes, dark chestnut hair, wore dark green suit, dark gray balmacaan overcoat, Reuse Bryant label on coat, gray cap, wore large signet ring with initials J. F. M. Had three Mass pins on lapel of coat."

Edward Vroom to Play for Charity

Rostand's heroic comedy, "Cyrano de Bergerac," will be given a spectacular presentation by Edward Vroom and a carefully chosen cast as a joint benefit for the unemployed and the Belgian Fund at the Hollis Street Theatre on March 21. The performance will be given under the auspices of an executive committee of one hundred representative men and women. It has been decided that in addition to the above charities that [illegible] Opportunity Farm be added.

Urge $1,000 Pension for Hillman Family

AUGUSTA, Me., Feb. 18.—Representative Seth T. Campbell of Island Falls has introduced in the Legislature a resolve appropriating $1,000 as a pension for the family of Deputy Sheriff Harold L. Hillman of Island Falls, whose mysterious disappearance several weeks ago is believed to be due to his anti-liquor activities. Hunting parties have searched vainly for his body on a foul play theory. The family consists of Mrs. Hillman and six young children. Mrs. Hillman has only a small property. The resolve specifies two appropriations, one of $500 each for 1915 and 1916.

Lowell Backs Army Study for Students

President Lowell of Harvard has written Henry S. Drinker, president of Lehigh University, and secretary of the committee of university professors in favor of military training:

"The Summer military camps for students have assumed an importance far greater than ever, first because the war in Europe has shown that the chance of an unexpected conflict is a more real danger than we have ever supposed, and in the second place, because the war has also shown the necessity for a much larger number of officers."

Osteopaths' Bill Gains in Maine

AUGUSTA, Me., Feb. 18.—The Legislative Committee on Judiciary reported "ought to pass" a new draft of the act to regulate the practice of osteopaths. The new draft confers on osteopaths all the rights and duties conferred by law upon medical practitioners except the right to administer medicines internally, perform surgery and practice midwifery.

A. H. COPLEY IS SUED FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. Florence H. Copley of Brookline has filed a divorce suit in Norfolk Superior Court at Dedham, against Alexander H. Copley of Milton, owner of nearly a half million dollars worth of real estate in Dorchester and Neponset, where he was a pioneer druggist. She alleges that Copley deserted her less than three years after she was married to him.

Alexander H. Copley is one of the best known men in the Boston retail drug trade. He formerly had drug stores at [illegible] Hill avenue and Columbia road, Dorchester, and in Neponset. At present he is interested in a drug store at Bowdoin and Quincy streets, Dorchester, which is operated under the name of the A. H. Copley Company.

He invested heavily in profitable real estate, and now holds properties in Dorchester and Neponset, including a business block in Bowdoin street, opposite St. Peter's Church. He makes his home in Milton.

Mrs. Copley filed her divorce libel through the office of Thomas F. Watson of No. 321 Washington street. She says she was married to Copley on May 28, 1903, and that he deserted her on January 22, 1911, in Brookline.

On account of the prominence of Mr. Copley in business life the filing of the divorce suit is attracting much attention. People in Dorchester, Neponset, Milton and Brookline are acquainted with one or both principals.

'Prepare Defence,' Warning of Hill

That the necessity of preparing for defence must continue to be the paramount issue in every State, was the declaration of David Jayne Hill, formerly ambassador to Germany, before 500 undergraduates in the Harvard Union.

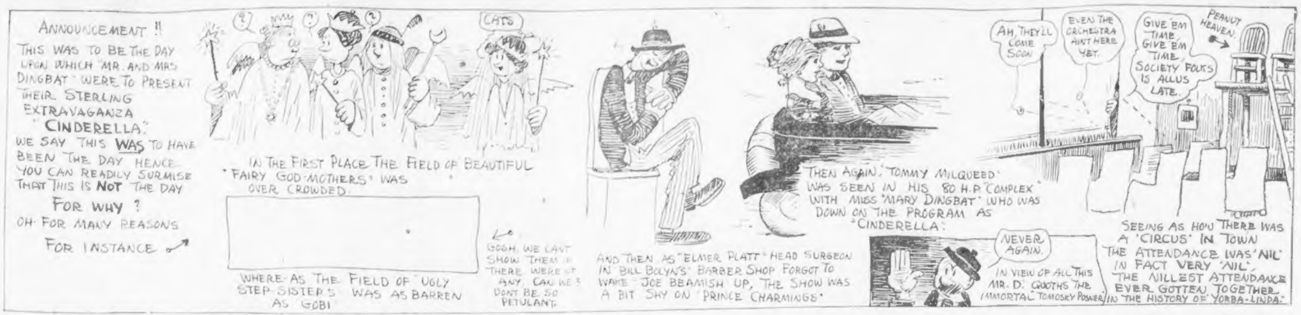
Too Bad, Too Bad—Get Your Money Back at the Box Office



ANNOUNCEMENT !!
THIS WAS TO BE THE DAY UPON WHICH "MR. AND MRS DINGBAT" WERE TO PRESENT THEIR STERLING EXTRAVAGANZA "CINDERELLA".
WE SAY THIS WAS TO HAVE BEEN THE DAY HENCE YOU CAN READILY SURMISE THAT THIS IS NOT THE DAY
FOR WHY ?
OH FOR MANY REASONS
FOR INSTANCE
?
CATS
IN THE FIRST PLACE THE FIELD OF BEAUTIFUL "FAIRY GOD-MOTHERS" WAS OVER CROWDED.
WHERE AS THE FIELD OF "UGLY STEP-SISTERS" WAS AS BARREN AS GOBI
GOSH, WE CANT SHOW THEM IF THERE WERENT ANY, CAN WE? DONT BE SO PETULANT.
AND THEN AS "ELMER PLATT" HEAD SURGEON IN "BILL BOLYN'S" BARBER SHOP FORGOT TO WAKE "JOE BEAMISH" UP, THE SHOW WAS A BIT SHY ON "PRINCE CHARMINGS"
THEN AGAIN, "TOMMY MILQUEED" WAS SEEN IN HIS 80 H.P. "COMPLEX" WITH MISS "MARY DINGBAT" WHO WAS DOWN ON THE PROGRAM AS "CINDERELLA".
NEVER AGAIN.
IN VIEW OF ALL THIS MR. D. QUOTHS THE IMMORTAL TOMOSKY POWER
AH, THEY'LL COME SOON
EVEN THE ORCHESTRA AINT HERE YET.
GIVE 'EM TIME, GIVE 'EM TIME, SOCIETY FOLKS IS ALLUS LATE.

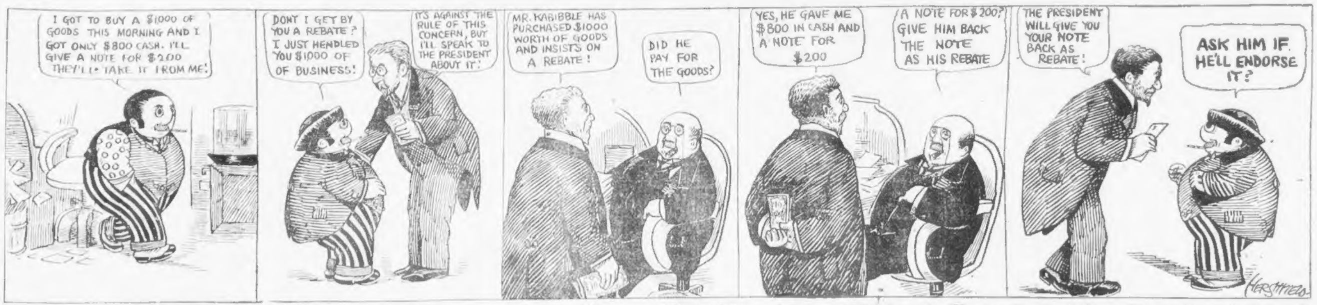
Either the Boss Knows Abie or His Note



I GOT TO BUY A $1000 OF GOODS THIS MORNING AND I GOT ONLY $800 CASH. I'LL GIVE A NOTE FOR $200 THEY'LL TAKE IT FROM ME!
DONT I GET BY YOU A REBATE ? I JUST HENDLED YOU $1000 OF OF BUSINESS!
IT'S AGAINST THE RULE OF THIS CONCERN, BUT I'LL SPEAK TO THE PRESIDENT ABOUT IT!
MR. KABIBBLE HAS PURCHASED $1000 WORTH OF GOODS AND INSISTS ON A REBATE !
DID HE PAY FOR THE GOODS?
YES, HE GAVE ME $800 IN CASH AND A NOTE FOR $200
A NOTE FOR $200? GIVE HIM BACK THE NOTE AS HIS REBATE
THE PRESIDENT WILL GIVE YOU YOUR NOTE BACK AS REBATE!
ASK HIM IF HE'LL ENDORSE IT?

Are Your Eyes Alike?

IF YOU ARE SUFFERING from blurred vision, headache, dizziness, stomach troubles, nervousness, weak and watery eyes, etc.

ONE EYE MAY BE doing most of the work. That's all wrong. The other eye should immediately be brought up to standard or permanent injury is certain. Don't let your eyes grow old by wearing improperly fitted glasses. Let one of our specialists in optometry examine your eyes without delay. We pride ourselves on our accuracy and promptness.

IN CASE OF ACCIDENT your glasses wherever bought can be repaired and exactly duplicated in a few hours by means of our improved scientific instruments. Call Haymarket 120.

YOUR EYESIGHT IS PRECIOUS

and demands the best possible service. Remember WILSON BROS. have eight separate and distinct rooms, equipped with all the latest scientific instruments for the careful examination of the eye, making it THE LEADING OPHTHALMIC ESTABLISHMENT IN NEW ENGLAND. Hughie Jennings

Manager of Detroit "Tigers", says

"After a red hot finish in a ball game a pipe full of Tuxedo makes victory sweeter, or defeat more endurable. Ee—yah for Tuxedo."

Hughie Jennings

"Come on, boys—Smoke Up! With TUXEDO!"

"Ee—yah!" That's Hughie Jennings' battlecry, out there on the coaching line by third base. He's one of the peppiest, gingeriest men in baseball; always up on his toes, rooting for dear life, making those runs come in.

Want to get some of that old snappy feeling yourself? Smoke Tuxedo, same as Jennings does. It'll boost you right up into the zingdooey class of fellows who are always on the go, full of vim and good nature, piling up success.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Tuxedo is mild and wholesome. That's why all these athletes use Tuxedo. It can't bite your tongue because the famous "Tuxedo Process" has removed all irritation from the natural leaf—what you get is the gentle, mild, Kentucky Burley, rich and fragrant and wholesome.

"Ee-yah!" Get some Tuxedo today and get that happy feeling.

INSURGENTS HOLD UP NEW SHIP BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Administration leaders in the Senate are in doubt as to the fate of the amended government ship purchase bill.

The amended bill has failed to satisfy recalcitrant Democrats or Progressive-Republicans. Without support of either of these factions, it cannot be passed. All efforts of the Democratic leaders to send the amended bill to conference failed. Another attempt will be made today.

John D. to Testify in Tax Suit.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 18.—John D. Rockefeller will testify by deposition in the efforts of Cuyahoga County to make him pay taxes on an assessed valuation of $311,000,000, his attorneys have announced.

"TIZ" FIXED MY SORE, TIRED FEET

Use "TIZ!" Don't have puffed-up, burning, aching feet or corns.

"'Tiz' makes my feet just dance."

Ah! what relief. No more tired feet; no more burning feet; no more swollen, bad smelling, sweaty feet. No more pain in corns, callouses or bunions. No matter what ails your feet or what under the sun you've tried without getting relief, just use "TIZ."

"TIZ" is the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up the feet; "TIZ" is magical; "TIZ" is grand; "TIZ" will cure your foot troubles so you'll never limp or draw up your face in pain. Your shoes won't seem tight and your feet will never, never hurt or get sore, swollen or tired. Think of it, no more foot misery; no more burning corns, callouses or bunions.

Get a 25 cent box at any drug store or department store, and get instant relief. Get a whole year's foot relief for only 25 cents. Think of it! For sale by Riker-Jaynes and all good druggists.

GROCERS INDORSE 'BUY IT NOW' IDEA

Leading Boston grocers indorse the "Buy It Now" idea.

John T. Connor of the Connor grocery stores says business is good and never has been better than it was last week.

Wholesale grocers see no good reason for not buying now when it comes to fruits and canned goods. Reduced rates through the Panama Canal have given New England the advantage of low prices for California fruit.

Those hotelkeepers and householders who have need of supplies such as are native to the Western coast may as well stock up now, as any time, is the opinion of men engaged in the grocery business on a large scale.

B. J. Crowley of the George Emerson Company, wholesale grocers, stands back of the "Buy It Now" campaign and says:

"While I should be very slow to advise anybody to buy now—food products such as cereals, flour or wheat—I am quite ready to say that no one will be making a mistake in buying canned goods and dried fruits. Eggs are fairly low and tea and coffee are almost normal.

"In a general way I quite agree that 'Buy It Now' is a good proposition. Money spent for necessities, though such may not be needed for weeks to come, is probably a wise policy from the public's point of view. It is a time now when no one should be personally selfish but should keep his money in circulation. There are plenty of articles with prices as low as they will be and I say let business move with as much momentum as possible."

John T. Connor says: "We never advise our customers about the future, for we have no knowledge of how things are going to break, but while we keep silent on flour, wheat, beans, etc., we are ready to acknowledge fairly low prices on other groceries. It is not for the public to take anyone's word, but to look and learn for themselves.

"A policy of buying is certainly better than one of unnecessary retrenchment."

Pink Rhino Attacks Her Keepers in Zoo

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Miss Smiles, the pink rhinocerous in the Central Pak Zoo attacked Headkeeper Bill Snyder yesterday. The motive power behind Miss Smiles was three quarts of whiskey, administered to break up a cold. Snyder and his assistant, Bob Hurton, were in the cage when the rhinocerous charged. They escaped, but Jennie, the cat that protected Miss Smiles from rats, was killed.

$49,000,000 Check Drawn by Kuhn, Loeb

Trade Boards Favor Railroad Boosting

That the railroads in New England have had enough of hostile criticism, adverse legislation and antagonistic public opinion, and that it is time for the Legislature, the boards of trade and the people as a whole to help upbuild and restore confidence in them was the consensus of opinion at the meeting of the executive council of the Massachusetts Board of Trade at Hotel Vendome. Resolutions on pending legislation affecting the railroad companies were passed and addresses were given by President Howard Elliott of the New Haven railroad, President James H. Hustis of the Boston & Maine and James L. Doherty of Springfield.

$84,500 Given for Study of Insanity

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Two gifts amounting to $84,500, to the national committee for mental hygiene for carrying on the work of that organization, have just been announced at the annual meeting. The donors were Mrs. Elizabeth Milbank Anderson, who gave $40,000, and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, whose gift was $44,500.

Boston Editor Is Held in Libel Case

The Boston police have been notified of the arrest in Rochester, N. Y., on a Suffolk County indictment warrant, of Robert J. Long, fifty-three, editor and publisher of the American Citizen, on a charge of criminal libel as a result of an article in reference to John Doyle of No. 135 Cross street, West Quincy.

Man Chops Off Big Toe by Shutting Door

BROCKTON, Feb. 18.—Leon Meszkenis cut off the great toe of his right foot by shutting a door on it at his home, No. 22 Field street. He was saying good-bye to some friends in his bare feet and shut the door before the toe had followed the rest of his body inside.

Leaders in Politics and Upon the Stage to Be Among the Guests.

Tomorrow night is "Happy Twenty" night in Convention Hall, St. Botolph and Garrison streets. For once the sale of papers will be secondary in the minds of the newsboys who have worked so hard to make their annual ball a success.

Judging by the elaborate program the committe has prepared, it is evident that tomorrow night's affair will surpass anything the boys have undertaken.

The dignitaries of the State and city, including Governor Walsh, Mayor Curley and Police Commissioner O'Meara, as well as many celebrities of the stage now playing in Boston, have promised to make merry with the Happy Twenty members and all their friends.

Mary Pickford, whose recent appearance at the Moving Picture Operators' ball will not soon be forgotten, will be present. Others who have promised to attend include: The Chick Storey Trio, Nat Clark, the singing wonder; Irving Berlin Serenaders, the Melodious Three, performers from various theatres, the Boston Castles, Clayton Clancy and Elizabeth Gallagher; and Abess Allen and Margaret Scollins.

SHOULD THERE BE A SPECIAL CODE OF CONDUCT AND MORALS FOR ACTORS AND ACTRESSES?

The marital troubles of beautiful Adele Blood and her husband raises an interesting question which is discussed from various points of view by Clara Morris, the famous actress, by the Rev. S. Edward Young, the eminent Presbyterian divine, and by Edward Davis, the actor husband of Miss Blood.

$300,000 Loss by Fire in Ebensburg, Pa

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 18.—Practically the entire business section of Ebensburg, mountain Summer resort and country seat of Cambria County, was wiped out by fire today. The fire started in the pool room of the Mountain House. The loss was $300,000.

Police Station Sold for $15,100

The old Police Station 7 in East Boston has been sold at auction for $15,100. The City Council had specified that the property could not be disposed of at less than $15,000. The assessed valuation of the land and buildings was $24,600.

Elliott Hailed as the 'Railroad Moses'

President Howard Elliott of the New Haven road was hailed by 500 members of the Boston Boot and Shoe Club as "the Moses who is to lead the New England railroad system out of Egyptian darkness into light."

Rob South Boston Saloon Man of $50

Four men attacked Joseph M. Miley, manager of the saloon of John Casey, at No. 27 Dorchester street, South Boston, just after he had left the saloon, and after handling him roughly forced him to give up $50. The men escaped.

4,000 SEE CARUSO SHED REAL TEARS

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Caruso sang his farewell of the season in the role which the public likes best, Canio in "I Pagliacci." In the presence of 4,000 people, who packed the Metropolitan, the great tenor shed tears. Ten times after the first act of Leoncavallo's music-tragedy Caruso was called before the curtain. The reception was a genuine tribute to Caruso, who sails tomorrow.

Ford Heads the 42nd Regiment Veterans

Captain Augustus B. Ford has been elected president of the 42nd Massachusetts Regiment Association. Other officers selected were, John A. Page, vice-president; Daniel C. Thomas, J. F. Williams, Randolph P. Moseley, executive committee.

Negroes Pray to Beat 'Jim Crow' Law

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Negroes in the capital today started to fast for three days and to pray for forty days in an effort to create sentiment against the bill now in Congress providing "Jim Crow" street cars in Washington.

MOTOR NOTES

By J. C. KERRISON.

Sidney D. Waldon has resigned his position as vice-president of the Packard Motor Car Company to accept an executive position with the Cadillac Motor Car Company of Detroit. This is one of the surprising changes in the motor world. In making this change Mr. Waldon retains his stock interest in the Packard Company, with which he has been connected for thirteen years.

Perhaps no man in the motor industry is better known than is Mr. Waldon, who joined the Packard Company in the days of its infancy when it was located in Warren, Ohio, and since that time he has occupied various positions of responsibility until he finally reached that of vice-president.

The Packard Company loss is the Cadillac Company gain and none question Mr. Waldon's ability to promptly fill any position to which he may be called.

W. C. Sills, general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, was in Boston yesterday and took occasion to meet a great many of his old-time friends. Mr. Sills, it will be remembered, was manager of the Boston branch of this company prior to his being called to New York to assume the position of Eastern sales manager. He later became general sales manager of the Chevrolet Company.

Just Try This When Hairy Growths Appear

(Modes of Today)

A smooth, hairless skin always follows the use of a paste made by mixing some water with plain powdered delatone. This paste is applied to the hairy surface 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed, when every trace of hair will have vanished. No pain or discomfort attends the use of the delatone paste, but caution should be exercised to be sure that you get the real delatone.

JAPAN HIDES BIG DEMAND ON CHINA

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Secretary of State Bryan and the Chinese Ambassador are declared to have conferred on the report from Pekin that the Japanese memorandum given diplomatic representatives in Pekin of the United States, Great Britain, France and Russia, respecting the demands of the Tokio government on China omits certain of the requirements originally presented to Pekin.

China rejected Japan's demands. The following are declared to have been among the secret points insisted upon:

If China employs foreigners as controlling advisers in police, military or financial departments, Japanese shall be preferred.

One half of the ammunition and arms hereafter used by China must be purchased from Japan; otherwise an arsenal must be established in China employing Japanese experts and materials.

China must grant to Japan the same privileges as other nations to establish missions, schools and churches throughout the country, with the privilege of propagating Buddhism.

Certain railroad concessions shall be granted.

Foreigners other than Japanese shall be excluded from future railroad, mining and dock building concessions unless Japan shall give her consent.

Report Obregon Quits Mexico City

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 18.—General Obregon, the Carranza commander, has evacuated Mexico City, according to advices received here. It was said that the troops of General Zapata had occupied the Capital.

It is reported General Villa scored a victory over the Carranza troops at Sant Ana Cacalilua, between Zapotlan and Manzanillo, a west coast port. It was stated that 200 of the Carranza forces had been killed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Secretary Bryan announces that Consul John R. Silliman, special representative of the State Department at Mexico City, will go to Vera Cruz, where General Carranza has established the seat of his government. This, it was pointed out, involves no question of recognition of any of the Mexican factions.

Radcliffe Girls Oppose Fire Drill

Radcliffe girls are in a state of mild mutiny. The rule made by the Radcliffe council that students must learn the use of the rope fire escapes and must practice using them is meeting with strenuous objection. Every student must go down the rope at least once in the presence of Miss Wright, the gymnasium instructor, and must see that her name is checked off on the list which is sent to Dean Boody.

Plot to Wreck Train in Maine Blocked

SACO, Me., Feb. 18.—An attempt to wreck a passenger train here was blocked by Eusebe Blanchette. While on his way home Blanchette stumbled over an object on the eastbound track which proved to be a huge piece of joist driven between two sleepers. He dislodged the joist and notified the police.

What Cadum Is Made of

Cadum, the well-known remedy for Eczema and other skin troubles, is one of the very few preparations sold in drug stores that is not secret. A list of its ingredients is printed upon every box. One ingredient is oil of cade, which is recognized by doctors as being one of the best things known for Eczema. Another ingredient is zinc oxide, which dries up the water that forms upon sore places on the skin. Two other ingredients are petrolatum and white wax, which make a covering to protect these sore parts from the air and water. A trial box of Cadum can be secured in any drug store for 10c, but it is cheaper to buy the 25c size, as it contains nearly four times as much as the 10c box.

NEW CRISIS IN TROLLEY DISPUTE

Representatives of the Carmen's Union of the Bay State Street Railway Company meet in special session at No. 724 Washington street, in response to the call of the officers of the union's conference board, following the sudden and unexpected interruption yesterday of the arbitration hearing that has been considering the wage controversy between the men and the management of the road.

The session of the arbitration board was halted yesterday as a result of the denunciation by District Attorney Pelletier, one of the arbitrators, of Daniel W. Cahill of Haverhill, a Bay State motorman.

Cahill testified last week that he bought flour sacks to make clothes for his children. His story aroused interest throughout New England, and brought scores of letters from people, offering to assist him in his struggle to support a wife and family on eleven dollars per week.

He was recalled to the stand yesterday morning and confronted with affidavits from his former employers to show discrepancy in his testimony last week. Attorney James M. Swift, counsel for the railway company, questioned the witness and brought out several points against his former testimony.

Mr. Pelletier followed Mr. Swift and said:

"Mr. Cahill, I am not particularly interested in the lie you told when you made your application, because I don't see how that would influence this board very much. It does throw some light on your character. If I were the company I would discharge you. If I were the organization I would put you out and deny you further membership."

Cahill attempted to make a statement but Mr. Pelletier said he didn't care to hear him. The former did say, however, that his only misstatement was in regard to his former employment and that was unintentional.

A hurried conference followed between Organizer Fay and the union men which resulted in a request for adjournment until Friday.

Calls for today's meeting were immediately sent out to every division of the railway.

Thought as Well as Industry Is Necessary to Success

The Bee Works Hard and on an Organized System, but It Has Made No Progress in Thousands of Years

Copyright, 1915, by the Star Company.

That paragon of industry, the busy bee, improves not only the shining hour, but the cloudy hour as well.

When it is too wet or too cold for it to work in the fields it is assigned by the government of the hive to work inside the hive, and spends the day building cells, fanning a current of air through the frames, or on guard duty at the door.

The marvellous organization of the bee hive has been studied and written about by many scientists and philosophers.

Maeterlinck's book about bees ought to be read by everybody.

But with all its industry and all its organization, the bee does not get anywhere. The honey you buy at the grocer's in square wooden crates is the same kind of honey upon which John the Baptist fed in the wilderness—the same that Cleopatra fed to Antony when he came from Rome to visit her.

The six-sided cell form is the same. The method of gathering and storing the honey is the same. The bee has been induced by much effort to lay up his supplies inside a carefully prepared box rather than in a hole in a tree, but it is the same sort of honey formed in the same way, and gathered with no more intelligence and no more efficiency than was the honey spoken of by the writers of remote antiquity.

We do not and probably never shall know how the tiny brain within the scaly head of the bee came to be trained in this wonderful work of pollen and honey gathering and of wax building.

All we know is that the organization of the hive is perfect, that the government is stern and relentless, and that while each bee toils for the whole community and for future generations it uses no judgment whatever about its own particular case.

We cannot even say whether it follows orders that are given to it in some mysterious fashion or acts upon blind instinct.

The result is the same.

The inmates of the hive are told off into squads, each with its work to perform, and never is any task neglected.

Even in unforeseen emergencies, like the invasion of the hive, an intelligence of some kind directs the repelling of the intruder and the repairing of the damage that was done.

Here is a wonderful mystery worth long study and of compelling interest.

But despite the popular view of the bee no lesson in industry for human beings can be drawn from its activities.

For the bee does not progress.

It does not succeed, in the sense that we understand success.

It provides for future generations, but those future generations will be composed of the same kind of bees. They will add nothing to the sum of bee knowledge—nothing to the methods of honey gathering and storing, nothing to the better defence of the hive or the greater ease or leisure of the workers.

There can be no progress where there is no thought. Gather human beings into a community, assign each a task and forbid him to do anything else—destroy him if he attempts to do anything else, and you will have a system of permanent stagnation comparable to that in a bee hive.

Only to the human brain was given the power of thought. We may think that animals reason, and they may reason to a certain extent, solving little immediate problems—as a cat learns to pull the latch string of a door, or a dog to do things that will bring him rewards in the way of bones.

But neither the bee nor his industrious neighbor, the ant, nor the faithful dog, nor the sarcastic and contemptuous cat ever thinks out its own future or plans for tomorrow.

Be contented with today's task and today's pay, and you will do no better.

Yield to the impulse of following the line of least resistance, of doing the same thing in the same way every day, and you will soon become a machine gaited at a certain speed, incapable of doing anything but the one task that you have learned to do.

All organization is beneficial and tends to bring about greater efficiency.

All industry is valuable. There can be no progress without it. The men with the greatest gifts have to work the hardest to develop them.

But the men who get ahead are the men who try to get ahead—who work for tomorrow instead of today, who try to find new ways and better ways of doing the work they are doing now—of constantly improving the methods that they are using.

Keep the bee in mind as a pattern of industry if you like, but do not make it a model. It is an admirable and remarkable creature, of great service to you, but of no service whatever to itself.

THE NEVER MAN

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

HE never swore, he never drank
The stuff that colors mortal noses;
He never tried to break the bank,
He never broke the laws of Moses,
He never gossiped in his life,
He never went to places shady;
He never argued with his wife,
And never liked another lady.

He never, never told a lie,
Not even to protect his brother;
He never let a week go by
Without a letter to his mother
He never made his first mistake;
His path was straight and never twisted
He never caused a heart to ache
This man who never yet existed.

A Worth-While Hint from Haverhill

From the Haverhill Gazette

Buy New England-Made Goods

When you buy, Mr. New Englander, buy New England made goods.

There's a reason and if you stop to think it over it's a mighty big factor.

Your associates, your neighbors, your friends and your acquaintances are largely New England people. Your wages or your salary are paid you by New England business men. Among the safest and most profitable investments are New England industrial securities.

To a large extent New England is a manufacturing community. The prosperity of New England depends upon her industrial success. The quality of New England-made goods is famous everywhere. New England-made goods are good enough for you and for me because there are none better and there are few manufactured articles that you want that are not made here. When you buy them, your money goes to your friends and helps them to prosper.

But it is the fad to wear only gowns that are made in Paris, clothes that are made of English worsted and even razors made of Sheffield steel, jack-knives and rubber combs and an extravagant array of more or less useful knick-knacks labelled "Made in Germany," and to buy shoes and hats and pins and needles and clocks and watches and anything from a spool of thread to an automobile at the first place which happens to make a price that suits you for an article of the grade desired.

You earn your wages in New England. You enjoy your social life among New England people. You receive your political honors from New England citizens.

Why don't you do the biggest thing you can to help them prosper and insist that they do the same for you? Almost any New England city can boast some mill or factory that makes the most or the best goods of a certain article in the entire world, or a chain of factories that beats the world in the manufacture of a certain product.

If you arrayed the products of Worcester, Springfield, Providence, Fall River, New Bedford, Haverhill, Lynn, Lowell, New Haven, Waterbury, Meriden, Bridgeport, Hartford, Manchester or Portland, Lewiston, Pittsfield, Fitchburg and a host of smaller towns and cities collectively, it would be a record of achievement that would make Germany or England or any other country blush with chagrin.

To enumerate one hundred articles in the making of which New England leads the world would be an injustice to thousands of others which space would not permit to be mentioned.

When you buy a dollar's worth of goods made outside of New England only twenty cents of that dollar stays here. Likewise, when a man outside of New England buys a dollar's worth of New England-made goods, eighty cents of the money comes here.

Sell what we don't need of our manufactured product outside and let the money come back here, but when you buy, insist upon getting New England-made goods.

You can make New England prosperous by buying only New England-made goods and you'll find a New England brand of satisfaction in looking over the manufactured articles you use and saying: "They were all made in New England."

Ask for New England-made goods first!

THE TRAWLER

By WEX JONES

BATTERED and rusted and salted, boarded by icy seas,
Smothered and tossed and pounded, as the stinging spray-shot freeze,
The North Sea's toy is the Trawler, but she sticks it through fog and foam—
When a blow shall dismay the petrel, then the Trawler will run for home.
Through the gray of the Winter weather she sees a gray shape roll,
The loom of a watching dreadnought, keeping the sea patrol;
With the gun-crews alert at their stations, for Glory may come through the murk,
But Glory's not for the Trawler—she's just doing her daily work.

When the ocean is sown with terror, and the liner rusts by the quay;
And the dreadnought, stronger than Etna, dares not the open sea;
When fathoms below the surface the mines at their moorings swing,
Waiting the prey—like Judas—that the tides of death may bring;
It is then the Trawler goes sweeping, searching the deep like a comb—
If she clears the seas for those others, who cares if she comes not home?
Glory? It's not for the Trawler, though she sails when the great ships shirk,
Heroes?—Her crew?—Just seamen, doing a seaman's work.

The cruiser out on her station, her colors fluttering free;
Her great guns manned and ready, the queen of the open sea.
What shows on the tossing waters?—a fragment of floating spar?—
The submarine dives, and the cruiser reels to the fatal jar.
Her consorts scuttle for safety—the Trawler alone stands by,
Lending a hand to survivors, while there bubbles a drowning cry.
A run to port with the rescued, then back to the North Sea murk—
Heroes?—Glory?—Oh, stow that; it's all in the Trawler's work.

Baltimore boasts that it is already eating cucumbers. We prefer indigestion in the Summer.

Chicago co-ed says there are four kinds of love—supreme love, selfish love, infatuation and affection. Our love of mince pie must be a combination of all four.

"Ten dollars a week," says Mr. Morgan, "is enough for a longshoreman if it's all he can get and he takes it." On the same condition we might dope out minimum wages for a pickpocket or burglar.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox on the Living Dead

She Asks if You Are a Soul Asleep and Says, Give to the World the Best in You

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Copyright, 1915, by the Star Company.

WANDERING over this big, little world, and studying the people in many lands, one must be impressed with the vast preponderance of living dead creatures, who cumber the earth with their bodies, and rob the air of its oxygen, and disturb the silence with their complaints.

People whose minds are dead to every thought save the needs of the body; whose souls are asleep so soundly that they are deaf to the call continually sounding through space to each immortal spirit on every sphere—the call come higher—and whose bodies are, in consequence, sources of discomfort, pain, misery and disease, or else of trivial worry.

With thoughts bound to the wheel of physical anxieties, the days go around and around, and their minds rise never beyond what to eat, what to wear, what to do to find amusement, what to do to "get even" with somebody for a fancied wrong, or to "get ahead" of a rival; how to get well of this and that ailment; what to take to obtain personal strength; and, for a slight variation of thought, how to make a fortune in a hurry.

For mental recreation, they indulge in criticisms of others who have erred, who have risen, too, high upon the wave of fortune.

There are thousands, and tens of thousands — yes, millions — of such people on earth.

The Path to Freedom

Are you one of these?

If you are, know you are that which you live in dread of becoming, you are dead. The real you is already, like John Brown's body, "moldering in the grave" of your own digging.

But if you are willing to roll the stone of self away and bid Christ within you rise, you can bring yourself to life.

You do not need any conversion by a churchman; you do not need to subscribe to any creed; you do not need any change of heart, save the getting rid of your selfish, narrow, dull way of looking at life.

All you need to say to yourself: "I am awake; I am alive to every glorious truth in the wonderful world; I am an immortal soul and there is nothing but light, health and power for me."

Then begin your morning with a resolve to find the beautiful and good things in the day, in the weather, in the work you have to do, in the people you meet.

If the weather greets you with bluster and wind and rain and snow and fog, light it up with your own spirit of sunshine.

I have known people so radiant that they made every one who approached them forget the weather.

If your work is distasteful keep in your mind a desire for something better and more congenial, and make yourself worthy of such work when it comes your way. No matter how uncongenial your task is today, consider it a blessing that you have employment and push along to better things.

Everything comes when we are fully ready. The law never fails. You may believe yourself worthy of better things than have fallen to your lot, but there is some reason, some cause in yourself, if you have not what you desire.

Be Agreeable

If you encounter people who are disagreeable, be so agreeable that you force them into a pleasant mood. Bring out the best in everybody by giving them the best that is in yourself.

It was Madeline Bridges who put this great truth into simple words:

"Give to the world the best you have,
And the best shall come to you."

Just so sure as you live these lines, so sure shall be your reward. But to do all this you must be alive.

Alive every hour of the day, and all of you, brain, soul and body, must be alive. Once you roll the stone away and come forth alive, you will vibrate at such a rate that worry, disease, poverty, despondency, gloom and melancholy will be unable to stay with you.

They can only attach themselves to minds that are virtually dead.

There is no excuse for idleness, despondency and despair in this world, so long as you are alive.

However hopeless the outlook may seem to you, however difficult the path before you, you can find the way to independence and success if you never let go.

Science for Workers

By EDGAR LUCIEN LARKIN

Q.—"Is it not true that ether waves would in time decrease in intensity in space to such a degree that movement would be infinitely less because of an infinitely less degree of intensity?"—P. W. LESSARD.

A.—There is no proof that radiant energy lessens its specific speed of 186,380 miles per second in cosmic space. All impulses that come under the general name of radiant energy, as light, heat, chemism; all electro-magnetic wave undulations known, move with this set and fixed space-speed. If speed is not diminished in traversing vast interstellar distances, the wave-frequency is not diminished in intensity—that is, rates.

The well known rates of undulation of energy waves do not change when measured from stars at vast distances apart. The most sensitive and delicate spectrometers and refractometers that can be made by a man like Brashear cannot detect differences in refraction and dispersion of light-energy waves from Sirius or Canopus. But Canopus is at least five times farther away than the huge sun Sirius. Refraction of their light is the same for both suns.

Then wave lengths and amplitudes are identical; the extra hundreds of trillions of miles additional traversed by energy from Canopus and other stars beyond Sirius are without effect. This for the visible or light waves. But still more refined researches have been made in that wondrous region, the ultra-ultra-violet energy band in solar and other stellar spectra.

Waves far too short to have any effect on the nerve fibres in the retina of the eye, and therefore invisible, are readily sensed by the quartz lenses and prisms of modern refractometers.

And even these excessively short waves, from 130,000 up to 250,000 to the inch, are not affected by their flights through distances of 51,000,000,000,000 miles or from five to ten times that unit distance.
